

Contents

Preface	page vii
Prologue	1
1 Ethical Epoch
The real and the good, 1876–1903	3
Views from Westminster Bridge and Russell Square	7
Arrivals: Frederick James Gould and Harry Snell	16
Arrivals: John Henry Muirhead and John Atkinson Hobson	21
Mentors: Henry Sidgwick, John Robert Seeley, Felix Adler	30
2 South Place in Finsbury and Holborn
An open door, 1793–1853	41
Iconoclastic adventures, 1853–1891	48
Aims, principles and Appointed Lecturers, 1891–1912	58
Changing the chapel, 1912–1930	65
Conway Hall in Holborn, 1930–1980	69
3 Bloomsbury and the Strand: the London Ethical Society
By faith, not by sight	81
Philosophy in London	87
4 Bayswater: Stanton Coit's Ethical Church
Wholesome objectivity	99
Some great and unique service?	107
Shall it be an Ethical Church?	117
A visit to the Ethical Church	121
A Platonist's church	124
5 The Ethical Movement
The other ethical societies	138
Ethics to the front	147
Ethics in the class-room	162
Epilogue	174
Bibliographical notes	177
General index	193
Index of ethicists	195