

Contents

Preface ix

1. Teenage Pregnancy: Science and Ideology in Applied Social Psychology 1
Kurt W. Back

2. The Doctor-Patient Relationship: A Social Psychological Analysis 19
Edward Krupat

Doctors and Patients in the Context of
Other Kinds of Relationships 20
Models of the Doctor-Patient Relationship 22
The Changing Context of Doctor-Patient
Relationships 28
Satisfaction 33
Studying and Improving the Relationship 40
Social Psychology and its Potential Contribution 45

3. Social Psychology and International Negotiations: Processes and Influences	51
Daniel Druckman
Bargaining and International Negotiating	52
Side Effects	56
Stages, Turning Points, and Impasses	58
Influences on Negotiation	63
Negotiator Responsiveness	70
Methodological Strategies	73
Conclusion: Theory and Practice	77
4. Emergency Evacuations During Fires: Psychological Considerations	83
John P. Keating, Elizabeth F. Loftus, and Michele Manber
5. Public Reaction to Nuclear Power: The Case of Offshore Nuclear Power Plants	101
Stephen G. West and Earl J. Baker
Background	101
Relevant Literature	103
The Current Investigation	105
Forecasting Overall Avoidance	122
Some Final Observations	124
6. People, Clinical Episodes, and Mental Hospitalization: A Multiple-Source Method of Estimation	131
Charles A. Kiesler and Amy E. Sibulkin
Further Problems Associated With Determining Numbers of Inpatients	151
7. Psychology and Public Policy	163
N. Dickon Reppucci and Robert Harry Kirk
Foci and Roles For Psychology and Public Policy	168
Organized Psychology	178
Summary and Conclusions	182

8. Involving Citizens in Research	189
Abraham Wandersman, David Chavis, and Paul Stucky
Case Examples of Citizen Involvement in Research	191
An Organizing Framework for Conceptualizing Citizen Involvement in Research	197
Characteristics Influencing a Decision of Whether Or Not to Involve Citizens in Research	197
The Process of Involvement	202
The Effects of Involving Citizens in Research	207
Concluding Comments	209
9. Utilizing Social Science Information in the Policy Process: Can Psychologists Help?	213
Phillip M. Massad, Bruce Dennis Sales, and Enrique Acosta
Is Research Utilized in the Policy-Making Process?	214
Variables That Affect the Utilization of Research	217
Knowledge Utilization and the Policy-Maker	221
Conclusion	225
10. The Perspective of Social Psychology: Toward a Viable Model for Application	231
Leonard Saxe
Nature of Social Psychology's Perspective	232
Application	238
Implications	246
Author Index	257
Subject Index	267