

CONTENTS

PART I: Forced Relocation and Labor Recruitment for the Katanga Copper Mines

1. The Katanga Labor Exchange (1910 – 1913)	13
2. The Star of the Congo, Kambove Mines and Lubumbashi Foundry (1914 – 1916)	41
3. Union Minière : The Corporation as Maneater (1917 – 1918)	61
4. Gaston Heenen and Edgar Sengier, Forced Labor Boosters (1919 – 1923)	79
5. Collieries Without Showers (1924).....	105
6. Heenen versus Rutten (1925 – 1926)	129
7. Mass Labor Recruitment in the Pre-Depression Years (1927 – 1930)	165

PART II: Forced Labor and Compulsory Food Crop Farming at Kilo-Moto Gold Mines

8. Gold: The Plague of the First Decade (1905 – 1914)	195
9. Officials Come and Go; The Plague Persists (1915 – 1917)	217
10. Tinkering with the Forced Labor System (1917 – 1918)	249
11. Adolphe Demeulemeester Was Here (1919)	271
12. George Moulaert: The Moralizer as Autocrat (1920 – 1921)	289
13. Military Occupation (1922 – 1924): From 7,500 to 17,500 Forced Laborers	309
14. Palaver Time (1925)	329
15. Alfred Moeller: Master of Trenchant Criticism Within Established Limits (1926 – 1927)	353
16. Recruitment Under “Moral Pressure” (1928 – 1930)	383
17. Consolidating the System (1931 – 1933)	413
Afterword	439
Notes	451