

Contents

Preface

vii

I. Interactional Psychology 9

1. Origins of Interactional Psychology 11

Norman Endler

Introduction 11

Extra scientific factors influencing personality theory and research 13

The person-by-situation interaction debate 14

Research and theoretical issues for Interactional Psychology 16

Empirical investigations of consistency vs.
specificity issue 21

Mechanistic and dynamic interaction 25

The role of situations in personality 27

Strategies and methods for assessing situations 29

Units of situational analysis 33

Origins and Future of interactional psychology 34

Summary and conclusions 37

Endnotes 39

References 39

2. Interactionism in Psychology: A Critical Analysis of the S-R Inventories 49

Adrian Furnham

Introduction 49

Previous reviews of S-R studies 50

The prototypic format: the S-R inventory of anxiousness 52

The S-R studies 54

Problems with the S-R inventories 71

Conclusions from the S-R studies 75

References 76

II. Psychological (Individual) and Sociological (Collectivistic) Approaches	81
3. Personal and Social Determinants of Behavior in Situations	83
Lawrence A. Pervin
Introduction	83
The person, society, and the relation between the two	84
Personal and social determinants—some relevant analyses	87
Situational behavior within the context of a theory of goals	97
References	101
4. Personality and Social Behavior	103
Hans J. Eysenck
Introduction	103
Cross-cultural comparisons	106
Genetic determinants	108
The situationist critique	109
Causal factors determining individual differences	109
Biological foundations of personality and social behavior	113
Examples of personality differences and social behavior	116
Conclusion	125
Endnote	127
References	127
5. The Definition of the Situation: A Review	134
Robert A. Stebbins
Introduction	134
The history of a concept	135
Studying the definition of the situation	148
The definition of the situation in explanation	149
Conclusions	150
Endnotes	150
References	151

6. Understanding Episodes	155
Rom Harre
Theory	155
Method	160
References	166

III. Applications: Clinical, Community, Environmental, and Linguistic Psychology 167

7. Social Fit and Misfit: An Interactional Account of Social Difficulty	169
Peter Trower
Introduction	169
Surveys of social difficulty	170
Speculations on a model of social difficulty	177
Conclusion	191
References	191
8. Cooperation Dilemmas	195
Richard Price
Introduction	195
Alternative formulations	196
Some problems with contemporary research on settings and situations	199
Cooperation dilemmas in the community context	201
Coping strategies	202
Social problem solving and cooperation dilemmas	205
References	206
9. Putting Situations in Their Place	208
David Canter
A role for the physical context	208
The concept of place	214
Place roles and rules	218
Places in the home	222
The structure of building interpretations	226

The experience of place	227
Bridging social and environmental psychology	230
References	235
10. Cognitive Structures, Speech, and Social Situation: Two Integrative Models	240
Howard Giles and Miles Hewstone
Introduction	240
Previous approaches to speech and social situations	241
Relevant contemporary social psychological research	246
The theoretical framework	251
Conclusion	259
Endnotes	260
References	261
IV. Conclusions	271
11. The Future of Social Psychology: Taking the Past to Heart	273
Joseph M. F. Jaspars
The past	273
The present	280
The future	000
The comparative analysis of behavior	297
Endnote	305
References	305
Index	311