

Contents

Preface xi

PART I    ATTRIBUTION AT THE PERSONAL LEVEL

1    Is It Real?

Philip Brickman

Errors in Attributing Reality    6

Internal and External Correspondence    10

Individual and Situational Differences in the Attribution of Reality    17

Phenomenological and Inferential Validity    21

Games and Experiments for Social Psychology    27

2    Rethinking the Role of Thought in Social Interaction

Ellen J. Langer

Historical Background    36

Indirect Research Support for the Nonthinking Hypothesis    41

Direct Research Support for the Nonthinking Hypothesis    46

Conclusions    50

An Experimental Postscript    53

3 Affective Consequences of Causal Ascriptions

Bernard Weiner, Dan Russell, David Lerman

An Attributional Model of Achievement Strivings 59

Attribution and Affective Intensity 64

The Problem 66

A Research Investigation 67

Results and Discussion 71

Emotions 83

Summary 88

4 Attributional Egotism

Melvin L. Snyder, Walter G. Stephan, David Rosenfield

Introduction 91

Evidence for Egotism 99

Theoretical Perspectives on Egotism 108

Summary 113

5 Attributional Styles

William Ickes and Mary Anne Layden

An Empirical Puzzle 121

Personal Characteristics, Attribution, and Performance:

More Pieces of the Puzzle 126

Attributional Style, Self-Esteem, Sex, and Depression 143

Summary 147

PART II ATTRIBUTION AT THE INTERPERSONAL LEVEL

6 Attributions and Learned Helplessness

Carol S. Dweck and Therese E. Goetz

Attributions, Helplessness, and Response to Failure 158

The Development of Helplessness 163

The Generalization of Helplessness 169

Helplessness and Social Interactions 173

Helplessness and the Occurrence of Attributions 175

7 Attribution, Socialization, and Moral Decision MakingRichard A. Dienstbier*

Defining Moral Situations	182
Emotional Arousal and Moral Behavior	187
Emotional Attribution and Moral Behavior	187
Research Summary and General Theoretical Issues	197
Socialization	199
Conclusions	204

8 Attributional Aspects of Interpersonal AttractionDennis T. Regan*

Effects of Attributions About Another's Behavior on Attraction	212
Effects of Self-Attributions on Attraction	218
Effects of Liking for Another on Attributions for His or Her Behavior	226
Concluding Remarks	229

9 Attribution in the Context of Conflict and Separation in Close RelationshipsJohn H. Harvey, Gary L. Wells, Marlene D. Alvarez*

A Review of Social Psychological Work on Conflict and Separation	236
Studies of Attributions in Situations Involving Conflict and Separation	241
Attributional Significance of Data	256
The Importance of Sex Differences	257
Conclusion	258

10 Attributional Strategies of Social InfluenceAvi Gottlieb and William Ickes*

Attribution and Influence: Past Integration Attempts	265
Attributional Strategies of Social Influence: A Model	271
Influence — A Postscript	291

PART III THEORETICAL INTEGRATION

11 Attribution Theory as a Special Case of Lay Epistemology

Arie W. Kruglanski, Irit Z. Hamel, Shirley A. Maides, Joseph M. Schwartz

Introduction 299

A Theory of Lay Epistemology: On the Content, Logic, and Course of Naive Inquiry 302

Content and Logic in the ANOVA Cube 311

Empirical Evidence for the Present Theory 314

Conclusion 329

12 Attribution and Misattribution of Excitatory Reactions

Dolf Zillmann

Two-Factor Theory of Emotion and Attributional Process 335

Alternative Approaches to Emotional Behavior 339

Two-Factor Formulations in Behavior Theory 344

Epistemic Search and Attribution in Emotion 346

A Three-Factor Theory of Emotion 354

A Theory of Excitation Transfer 359

Attribution in Excitation Transfer 361

PART IV CURRENT PROBLEMS AND FUTURE PERSPECTIVES

13 A Conversation With Edward E. Jones and Harold H. Kelley

John H. Harvey, William Ickes, Robert F. Kidd

Historical Influences 371

On Attribution as a Cause Versus Attribution as a Property 374

On the Development of Attribution Theory and Research 376

On Attributions and Behavior 377

Attribution and Self-Perception 378

Actor-Observer Differences 379

Applications: Attribution and Self-Presentation 380

Applications: Attributions in Interpersonal Relations 382

The Future of Attribution Research 384

Author Index 389

Subject Index 399