

Table of Contents

Foreword	V
Table of Contents	VII

Peter Keller & Thomas Bieger

Introduction	1
1. The Search for a Systematic Model of the Change Processes	1
2. Challenges of Management of Change in Tourism	3
3. Core Topics to be Discussed	4
3.1 Understanding the Drivers of Change	5
3.2 Trends Accelerating Structural Change of Tourism Related Industries ..	6
3.3 Overcoming Barriers to Change in the Destinations and Communities ..	6
3.4 Managing Change Within and Between Corporations	6
4. Topics Covered in this Book.....	7

Section 1: Drivers of Change

Mariangela Franch, Umberto Martini, Maria Della Lucia & Federica Buffa

Global Warming as a Driver of Change in Alpine Skiing Areas	11
1. Global Warming and Adaptation Strategies: A Research in the Trentino Skiing Areas	12
2. Global Warming and Winter Tourism in Alpine Skiing Areas: Main Issues and Managerial Implications	14
3. The Research: The Cableway Associations of the Province of Trento....	17
3.1 The Context of the Research	17
3.2 The Focus of the Research	18
4. Conclusions	23
Bibliography	27

Yasuo Ohe

Barrier to Change in Rural Tourism: Evaluating Dependence on Local Tourism Resources in Japan	31
1. Introduction	32
2. Analytical Framework	35
3. Data	38
4. Attitudes on Future Development	38
4.1 Empirical Model	38

VII

4.2	Explained Variables	39
5.	Results	41
5.1	Cluster 1	41
5.2	Cluster 2	42
6.	Follow-up Evaluation from the Long-term Perspective	43
7.	Conclusions	44
	Bibliography	46

Section 2: Destination

Arja Lemmetyinen

	Destination-Marketing Organizations Facing the Challenges of Change.....	49
1.	Introduction	50
2.	Change as a Theoretical Phenomenon	51
3.	Methodology	52
4.	Case Descriptions	53
4.1	Case 1, Turku Touring in South West Finland	53
4.2	Case 2, The Åland Tourism Board in Mariehamn	54
4.3	Case 3, Roslagen Tourism Board in Norrtälje	54
5.	The Roles of the DMO in Enhancing Networking Among the Actors and thus Managing the Change	55
5.1	Creating New Resources for the Destination Actors	55
5.2	Intensifying the Communication in the Destination Networks	56
5.3	Strengthening the Affinity Among the Actors in the Destination Network	58
5.4	Contributing to Strengthening the Market Position of the Actors in the Tourism Business Networks	59
6.	Conclusions	60
	Appendix	62
	Internet References	63
	Bibliography	64

Harald Pechlaner, Christopher Reuter & Monika Bachinger

	The Change Corridor in Transition from Region to Destination – The Case of the Franconian Lake District	67
1.	Basic Conditions of Tourism are Changing	68
2.	Changes of Regions in Transition to Destinations	68
2.1	The Change Corridor of Destination Development	68
2.2	The Destination as a Product of Network Building	70
3.	Challenges for Change Management in Virtual Service Companies	71
3.1	Network	72
3.2	Resources	73

3.3	Market	73
4.	Development of a Change-Oriented Destination Management in the Franconian Lake District	74
4.1	The Development of the Franconian Lake District	74
4.2	The Franconian Lake District in the Tourism Area Life Cycle	76
4.3	The Activation of the Network to Increase the Degree of Involvement .	78
5.	Conclusion and Outlook	80
	Bibliography	81

Section 3: Product Innovation and Life Cycle

Raija Komppula, Sanna Hakulinen & Saila Saraniemi

	The Life Cycle of a Specific Tourist Product – Christmas in Lapland	87
1.	Introduction	88
2.	The Christmas in Lapland Product	89
3.	Theoretical Foundations in this Study	91
4.	Methodology	93
5.	Results	94
6.	Conclusions	97
	Bibliography	99

Miriam Scaglione, Colin Johnson & Jean-Philippe Trabichet

	The Swiss Tourism Sector and Web 2.0 Change Management	101
1.	Introduction	102
2.	Theory and Research Questions	103
2.1	Web 2.0 as a Disruptive Innovation	103
2.2	Dosi's Technological Paradigms and Trajectories	105
2.3	Web 2.0 and the Tourism Sector	106
3.	Data	108
3.1	Analysis of Web 2.0 Features	108
3.2	Analysis of Web 1.0 Adoption Across Sectors Using Bass-Rogers Model	109
4.	Empirical Analysis and Results	113
5.	Conclusions	116
5.1	Industry Implications	116
	Bibliography	118

Section 4: Change Management

Paola Paniccia & Marco Valeri

Enhancing Knowledge in Tourist Firms: Between Maintenance and

Change	123
1. Introduction	124
2. Knowledge in Tourist Firms	125
3. The Learning Process between the Individual and the Business Organisation	127
4. From Individual Knowledge to Organisational Knowledge	128
5. The Firms as a Learning System	129
6. Knowledge and Time in the Tourist Firms	130
7. Knowledge Management as a Means of Increasing the Value of Knowledge	132
8. Conclusions	133
Bibliography	135

Pietro Beritelli & Stephan Reinhold

Explaining Decisions for Change in Tourist Destinations: The Garbage

Can Model in Action	137
1. Introduction	137
2. Literature Research	138
3. Methodology	141
4. Case Study	142
4.1 Case Setup: Switzerland's Tourism Regions and their DMOs	142
4.2 A Garbage Can Assessment of DMO Change in Swiss Tourist Destination	143
5. Discussion	148
5.1 Cross-Case Comparison	148
5.2 Usefulness of the Garbage Can Model	149
6. Conclusion	149
Bibliography	151

List of Authors	153
-----------------------	-----