

Contents

Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii

1

Studying Social Goals	1
Assumptions about the Nature of Man	5
General Framework for a Theory of Motivation	8
A Theory of Social Incentives: A Developmental Perspective	15
Conceptualizing Dimensions of Expectancies That Affect Incentives	33
Conceptualizing How Motives Affect Incentives	36
Summary	50

2

Social Motivations of Infancy: Curiosity and Attachment	53
Social Curiosity	57
Attachment Motivation	72
Summary	85

vii

3Social Motivations of Early Childhood:

Assertiveness	87
Developmental Differentiation of Assertive Incentives	88
Differentiation of Assertive-Achievement Incentive	92
Assertive Motives: General Introduction	106
Assertive Incentives in the Social Setting	123
Summary	139

4Social Motivations of Childhood: Relatedness, an Introduction

	141
Cognitive Changes Affecting Emergence of Relatedness	144
Social Influences on the Development of Relatedness Incentives	148
A Taxonomy of Relatedness Incentives	150

5Social Motivations of Childhood:

Relatedness through Competence	155
Responsibility Achievement Motivation	155
Social-Comparison Achievement Motivation	161
Task-Achievement Motivation	174
Summary	181

6Social Motivations of Childhood: Relatedness through Self-Control and Accommodation

	183
Authoritarian Social Approval	184
Affiliation Motivation	192
Social Altruism	204
Summary	213

7Social Motivations of Adolescence:

Belongingness and Social Consistency	215
Belongingness Motivation	215
Social-Consistency Motivation	231
Summary	247

8

Motivations of Adulthood: Interdependence and Integrity	249
Interdependence Motivation	251
Integrity Motivation	264
Summary	274

9

Socialization and Social Motivation	277
Socialization Reexamined	278
Summary	288

Epilogue	289
References	291
Subject Index	305