

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
1
The Mother-Child Dialogue: The First Roots of Interpersonal Influence	1
2
Newborn Scientists, Mature Gamblers	15
3
Failure in the Parent-Child Dialogue and Parallels in Therapeutic Change	23
4
To Notice or Not To Notice	31
5
Uses and Abuses of Noticing and Ignoring	45
6
The Regulatory Influence of Speech	55
7
The Influence of Language: Walls or Wings	75
8
Thoughts without Words	87
9
The Talent for Language Acquisition	95
10
Feelings, Words, and How They Connect	107

11
The Scoreboard So Far	117
12
Categorizing Schemes in Psychotherapies	121
13
“Monkey See, Monkey Do”: The Invisible Influence of Copying	127
14
Encounter in Psychotherapeutic Influence	137
15
Beliefs, Paradoxical Plans, and Their Therapeutic Use	149
16
The Nature of the Symbolic Process	171
17
Influence via Change in Symbolic Practice	181
18
Hidden Elements and Pitfalls in Interpersonal Influence	197
19
L’Envoi: Advice to Those Approaching Interpersonal Influence	215
20
A Summing Up: The Argument in a Nutshell	221
References	227
Index	235