

Contents*

Editorial

Rupert Brown

Social identity and social change: Recent developments in intergroup relations research 1

Theoretical contributions

Donald M. Taylor and David J. McKirnan

A five-stage model of intergroup relations 3

Iain Walker and Thomas F. Pettigrew

Relative deprivation theory: An overview and conceptual critique 13

Jennifer A. Williams

Gender and intergroup behaviour: Towards an integration 23

Gabriel Mugny, Claude Kaiser, Stamos Papastamou and Juan A. Pérez

Intergroup relations, identification and social influence 29

Empirical contributions

David A. Wilder

Predictions of belief homogeneity and similarity following social categorization 35

Fraser J. M. Reid and Lita Sumiga

Attitudinal politics in intergroup behaviour: Interpersonal vs. intergroup determinants of attitude change 47

S. D. Reicher

Social influence in the crowd: Attitudinal and behavioural effects of de-individuation in conditions of high and low group salience 53

Ad van Knippenberg and Huub van Oers

Social identity and equity concerns in intergroup perceptions 63

Amélie Mummendey and Hans-Joachim Schreiber

'Different' just means 'better'. Some obvious and some hidden pathways to in-group favouritism 75

Index 81