
TABLE OF CONTENTS

PART ONE/THE NATURE OF SUPERVISION

CHAPTER 1/INTRODUCTION TO SUPERVISION 2

What Is Supervision All about, Anyway?	4
The Supervisor Defined	4
History of Supervision	5
Development of Professional Managers	6
The Role of Supervision	8
Workers' Views of Supervisors' Role	9
What Is Supervisory Management, Then?	10
Supervision in Different Organizations	11
Physical Environmental Influences	14
Supervising Union Employees	15
Preparing to Supervise Today's Workers	15
The Move from Worker to Supervisor	16
Supervising within Evolving Organizations	17
A Preview of Remaining Chapters	18

CHAPTER 2/THE PEOPLE-ORGANIZATION MIX 24

What Is Meant by People-Organization Mix	26
Theoretical Approach to the Mix—
What Components Influence the Interaction?	27
Adversary Climate	28
Dynamics of the Mix	29
The Open Systems Model	29

The Developmental Model	30
The Model for the Future	31
Another Model: Factors that Influence Organizational Health	35
Applying The Model	37
An Afterthought: Are the Third-Wave Issues Real?	38
Summary	39

CHAPTER 3/SUPERVISORS AS MANAGERS 42

What Are the Functions of Managers?	44
Supervisors as Managers	44
History of Management Theory	47
Levels of Management	48
Functions and Principles of Management	49
Planning	49
Organizing	52
Leading and Directing	54
Controlling	55
Principles of Management	56
Management Duties	60
Budgeting and Financial Planning	61
Reporting Production	61
Selecting and Training Workers	62
Routine Supervision	62
Developing and Managing Procedures and Methods	63
Developing Policy and Standards	63
Management Problem Solving	64
Communication Problems	64
People Problems	64
Routine Problem Solving	65
Managerial Qualifications—
Or How Do I Get to Be a Manager?	65
The Supervisor's Philosophy of Management	66

PART TWO/UNDERLYING INFLUENCES ON BEHAVIOR

CHAPTER 4/THE MOTIVATION FACTOR 70

Motivation: A Function of Reward Systems	72
--	----

Worker Motivation—What Is It?
The Classic View of Motivation	74
Is There a Hierarchy of Needs?	74
Reinforcement—The Other Side of Motivation	77
What Is the Hawthorne Effect?	80
Job Satisfaction or Satisfiers vs. Dissatisfiers	81
Recent Efforts in Job Motivation	82
Consider Japan—Where Lies the Motive?	83
Some Additional Considerations	86
Implications for the Supervisor	87
Summary	88

CHAPTER 5/LEADERSHIP 90

How Do I Get Them to Do the Job?	92
Variables That May Influence Leadership Skills	92
Effective Leader Models	94
Type Model	94
Theory X and Y	95
Behavioral Model	96
Recent Findings and Implications	99
What Should Your Style Be?	102
Some Do's and Don'ts for Leaders	104
Summary	105

CHAPTER 6/SUPERVISION ETHICS 106

The Value Question	108
Organizational Ethics Defined	108
What Is Business Ethics?	108
Public Interest in Ethics	109
Historical Development of Ethical Concerns	110
Scientific Management Era	110
Human Relations Era	111
Interpersonal Relations Era	111
Psychology of Ethical Decision Making	112
Empirical Research on Managerial Ethics	116
The Supervisor and Ethics	117
Codes of Ethics	121
Reward Systems and Ethical Questions	123
A Model for Evaluating the Ethics of Supervisory Decisions	124

To Supervise Is to Communicate 130
The Flow of Communication 130
 Attitudes 130
 Abilities 131
The Communication Process 131
Communication Situations 133
Communication Climate 134
Communication Influences 134
Encoding and Media Selection 136
Barriers to Interpersonal Communication 137
 Mechanical Barriers 137
 Climate Barriers 138
Communication Is also Receiving 142
Precautions for Dealing with Models 143
Listening Is also Communication 144
Summary 145

PART THREE/TOOLS OF THE SUPERVISORY TRADE

CHAPTER 8/COMMUNICATION MECHANICS 150

Characteristics of Effective Communication 152
The Impact of Language 153
 Tone and Tact 156
 Positive Language (Attitude) 157
The Nature of Supervisory Communication 157
Oral Mechanics 159
 Giving Instructions 161
 Communicating in Small Groups 163
 Nonverbal Implications 166
Written Mechanics 167
 Writing Situations 168
 Characteristics of Good Written Messages 168
 Writing Letters and Memoranda 170
 Writing Business Reports 171
 Dictating Business Messages 172
Summary 174

CHAPTER 9/IMPROVING PRODUCTIVITY
IN THE WORKPLACE 176

People Generate Productivity	178
Environment for Productivity	178
The Status of Productivity in the Workplace	181
Approaches to Productivity Improvement	183
Quality Control Circles	183
Increasing Productivity through Job Design	186
Job Content—Flexible or Fixed?	186
Tools for Defining and Clarifying
Job Content	187
Practical Approaches to Improving
Job Content	188
Improving Productivity through Work Measurement	193
The Supervisor and Work Measurement	195
Improving Productivity through Value Structures	196
Summary	199

CHAPTER 10/SYSTEMS AND PROCEDURES
ANALYSIS FOR SUPERVISORS 202

Procedures as Components of Systems	204
An Introduction to the Systems Approach	204
Supervisor's Role in Improving Procedures	205
Systems Analysis and Design	206
Administrative Systems	206
Professional Systems Analysts	207
Systems, Procedures, and Methods	208
Approach to Systems Improvement	209
Increasing Productivity through Better Systems	212
The Role of Information	212
The Role of the Analyst	213
The Role of the Supervisor	214
Why Standardize Procedures	215
Tools of Procedures Analysis	216
Informal Improvements in Work	219
Summary	222

PART FOUR/PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS FOR SUPERVISORS

CHAPTER 11/EMPLOYEE SELECTION 224

Selecting the Right People 226
Maintenance Functions 226
 Goal: Low Employee Turnover 227
 The Ideal Selection Model 228
External Influences 229
 Equal Employment Opportunity 229
 Testing and EEOC 231
 Interviewing and EEOC 232
 Dismissals and EEOC 232
 Affirmative Action 233
 Women's Roles Have Changed 233
Current Selection and Placement Practices 235
 The Employment Process 236
Employee Orientation 239
Personnel Maintenance Systems 241
 General Climate 241
 Employee Benefits 241
New Directions for Personnel 243
Summary 244

CHAPTER 12/EMPLOYEE TRAINING 246

What Is the Supervisor's Role in Training Programs? 248
Employee Training 248
 An Overview of Training Programs 248
 Approaches to Training 249
 Training Methods and Materials 251
 Guidelines for Effective Training 253
 Evaluation of Training 254
The Nature of Learning 255
 Levels of Learning 257
 Principles of Learning 260
 Motivational Operations 261
What Does this Mean for the Supervisor? 262
Summary 263

CHAPTER 13/APPRISING EMPLOYEE
PERFORMANCE 266

What Is the Purpose of Performance Appraisal	268
An Introduction to Performance Appraisal	268
Renewed Interest in Appraisal	270
Employee Attitudes About Appraisal	271
Traditional Versus Contemporary Appraisal Systems	272
Traditional Systems	272
Contemporary Systems	274
History and Current Status of Appraisal	274
Appraisal Techniques	276
Ranking	276
Checklist	276
Rating Scale	276
Narrative	277
Goal Setting	277
Interviews	280
Ingredients of an Effective Appraisal System	280
Supervisor—
Influenced Ingredients	280
Organization—
Influenced Ingredients	282
Summary	284

PART FIVE/THE SUPERVISOR'S CAREER

CHAPTER 14/CAREER PATHS FOR SUPERVISORS

Growth Mapping	290
A Philosophy of Career Planning	291
Value of Planning	293
Career Options	293
Impact of Career Transitions	295
Preparation for Transitions	295
Changes in Role	295
Adjustments to Functional Changes	296
Alternative Plans to Career Development	297
Self-Directed Plans	299
Formal Plans	304
Summary	307

Your Relationship with the Boss	312
Ideation Problem Solving	313
Using Quantitative Data	314
Electronic Information Systems	315
Dealing with Everyday Problems	318
Case Study: Code of Ethics	318
Case Study: The Specialists	319
Case Study: Old Friends	321
Case Study: The Christmas "Present"	322
Case Study: Alice in Counseling Land	324
Case Study: The Discontent of Winter	326
Case Study: Battle Fatigue	327
Cases in Arbitrating Supervisor/Employee Conflict	328
Case Study: Discriminating Employer	329
Case Study: Lost Seniority	330
Case Study: Emergency Mandatory Overtime	331
Case Study: The Unqualified Applicant	332
Case Study: Misconstrued Directive	333
Case Study: Preventive Absence	334
Case Study: How Work-Measurement Can Control Costs	335
Case Study: Guarding the Nest	341

PART SIX/APPENDIXES

Appendix A/Formats for Written Messages	346
Appendix B/Sample Formats for Resumes	350
Appendix C/References for Additional Reading	354
Appendix D/Glossary	361
Index	373