

Contents

Preface, ix

Prologue

Where Are We and Where Are We Going?, 2

What Is Problematic? (Mass Media, Oversimplicity, and Passivity), 4

What Productive Alternatives Might Be Used in the Classroom?

(Language and Creative Problem-Solving), 15

PART 1

DEVELOPMENTAL BASES, 31

Chapter 1

A Base in the Development of Language & Thought, 32

Piaget's Stage III: Concrete Operations

(The Elementary-School Years), 34

How Can Teachers Assist General Learning and Communication in the Stage of Concrete Operations?, 42

How Does Developmental Information Help the Teacher of Culturally Different Children?, 50

Summary and Conclusions, 63

Additional Activities for Children, 65

Chapter 2

A Base in Listening, 73

Why Put Listening First?, 75

What Is the Relationship of Listening to Thinking?, 78

How Does Listening Relate to the Other Language Arts?, 80

Summary and Conclusions, 97

Additional Activities for Children, 99

PART 2
USES OF LANGUAGE, 109

Chapter 3

Using Oral Language to Express & Expound, 110

- Why Bother with Oral Interaction in the Language Arts Curriculum?, 112
- What Is the Teacher's Responsibility?, 113
- How Does a Child Use the Aim of Language Called "Self-Expression"?, 116
- What Are Some Dimensions for the Oral Language Curriculum?, 120
- How Does a Child Use the Aim of Language Called Exposition?, 130
- Summary and Conclusions, 138
- Additional Activities for Self-Expression, 139

Chapter 4

Discussion Roles & Goals

How Can Teachers Help Children Learn Discussion Skills, 146

- What Are Some Roles?, 148
- How Can the Teacher Evaluate?, 154
- Practical Considerations, 156
- How Does the Teacher Guide Discussion?, 157
- What Specific Topics or Content Can a Teacher Find to Motivate Discussion?, 166
- The Creative-Problem-Solving Discussion (CPS), 169
- Summary and Conclusion, 175
- Activities, 175

Chapter 5

Children's Literature

Using Language to Make It Memorable, 180

- What Is Children's Literature and How Can Teachers Guide Responses?, 181
- How Does a Communication Triangle Help to Distinguish Literature?, 192
- The Mirrored World, 193
- The Author, 200
- The Audience, 202
- The Work, 204
- Organization of Literature, 205
- Language of Literature, 209
- A Few Selected Discussion Questions on the Organization and Language of a Work, 214
- Bibliotherapy for Children, 216
- Summary and Conclusions, 219
- Additional Activities, 220

PART 3
INTO PRINT, 227

Chapter 6

Developing into Composition, 228

What Are Some Reasons that Writing Development in School Seems Difficult?, 230

The First Step in the Developmental Teaching of Writing, 233

What Features of Language Are Noticeable in the Developing Child from Grade to Grade?, 235

Some General Developmental Activities, 248

How Do You Motivate Children to Write?, 252

Summary, 260

Activities for Beginning Writing, 260

Activities for Motivation, 266

Chapter 7

How to Teach Composition, 273

Why Is Providing for Composition so Essential?, 274

What Are Some Types of Composition in the School?, 279

What Are Some Major Areas of a Teaching-Learning Strategy for Written Composition?, 284

A Sample Schedule and Environment for a Writing Day, 302

Summary and Conclusions, 305

Activities for Self-Expressive, Imaginative, Fantastic Writing, 308

Chapter 8

Spelling: Contemporary Developments & Controversy

What's Happened to Spelling?, 323

What Is Spelling?, 324

What Is the Nature of the Modern Spelling Program?, 327

How Are Children Instructed?, 334

Summary and Conclusions, 349

Activities, 351

Chapter 9

New Approaches to Handwriting, Punctuation, & Other Conventions of Written Composition, 357

How Is Handwriting Related to Problem Solving?, 358

Some Advice, 361

Punctuation and Mechanics of Written Composition, 363

Summary and Conclusions, 374

Additional Activities for Expository Writing, 375

Chapter 10
Grammar & Usage
Contemporary Developments & Controversy, 379

What Is Grammar? (Three Kinds), 380
Grouping Language Concepts, 391
Summary and Conclusions, 394
Activities on Grammar and Usage, 396

Chapter 11
Evaluation & Accountability in Language Arts Instruction, 404

Why Assess?, 405
What Are Needs and Problems in Assessing Written Composition?
(The More Negative Side), 407
Assessing Some Specific Language Arts Areas
(Composition, Listening, Literature, and Problem Solving), 411
Conclusions on Accountability and Evaluation in the Language Arts, 450
An Activity for the Reader of this Chapter, 452

Epilogue, 456

Index, 458