
CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	xiii
Guide to Transcription Conventions	xv
1 Background	1
Methodology and Data Sources.....	2
Sociocultural Perspective	3
Discourse	4
Community of Practice.....	5
2 Introducing the Three Communities	7
Teachers.....	8
Mr. Martinez.....	8
Ms. Loesely.....	9
Ms. Koch	11
Focal Students	14
Nestor and Jennifer.....	15
Anna and Pedro	16
Notes.....	19
3 Communities of Practice in Three Sixth-Grade Math Classes	21
Community of Practice.....	21
Three Communities of Practice	24
Focal Participants' Identities and Classroom Roles	25
Mr. Martinez' Class	26
Mr. Martinez' Class as a CoP—January 28.....	27

Thomas	31
Benjamin	34
Ms. Loesely's Class.....	39
Ms. Loesely's Class as a CoP, January 21	41
Jennifer	43
Nestor.....	48
Ms. Koch's Class	51
Ms. Koch's Class as a CoP, February 13.....	53
Anna	56
Pedro	59
Conclusion.....	62
Notes	65
4 Frames as Play and Participation Frameworks in Reform Math.....	67
Framing Academic Discourse	68
Frames of Play	68
Language Socialization	70
Frames of Play in Cmp Math.....	70
Frames of Play in Cmp Fraction Units	71
Teachers' Use of Frames in Fraction Lessons.....	73
Teacher-Inspired Frames.....	74
Thomas and Benjamin—Fundraising, Carpentry, and Fractions	75
Jennifer and Nestor—Brownies, Pizza, and Fractions	81
Anna and Pedro—Money, Roller Derby, and Probability.....	86
Comparison of Focal Students.....	91
Thomas and Jennifer: U.S. Born, Exited from Language Support.....	91
Pedro and Nestor: U.S. Born, Currently Receiving ESL Services.....	92
Anna and Benjamin: Born in Mexico, Recent Arrivals, Currently Receiving ESL Services	93
Notes	94
5 What Is Mathematical Discourse, How Is it Used, and Who Is Successful at It?.....	95
What Is the Math Discourse When Learning Fractions?.....	96
CMP.....	97
How Do Students Use Mathematical Discourse?.....	100

Central Participants.....	102
Thomas.....	102
Pedro and Anna.....	103
‘Legitimate’ Peripheral Participants.....	106
Jennifer.....	106
Nestor.....	107
Benjamin.....	108
Conclusion: Student Participation.....	109
Participation Performances.....	110
Passive/Receptive.....	110
Experimentation.....	114
Ownership.....	116
Conclusion.....	119
Notes.....	120
6 Conclusions and Implications.....	121
Individual Variables Affect Participation.....	122
Gender.....	122
Latina/o Ethnicity.....	123
Knowledge of Math and of School.....	124
Language Proficiency.....	125
Frames and Focus on Math Discourse: How CMP Supports
Participation.....	126
Frames Support Participation.....	127
Math Discourse.....	128
Other Features of the CMP Classes that Support
Participation.....	128
CMP, Math Skills, and Assessment.....	129
Internal and External Factors Affect Participation.....	130
The Effect of Participation on Learning and Socialization.....	131
Implications.....	132
Limitations of this Study and Further Research.....	134
References.....	137
About the Author.....	143