

Contents

Preface: The Language of Imperial Expansion Silvia Nagy-Zekmi and Chantal Zabus	vii
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

I. Neo-Imperial Traces or Premonitions in Modernity

Empire, the Question of Representation, and the Erasure of Inhabitancy Robert P. Marzec	3
Contemporary Hollywood and the Persistence of the Empire: Nostalgia and Post-Imperial Voyeurism in Hallmark's King Solomon's Mines Paul Ugor	13
British Nostalgia for the Ottoman Past: The Legible Multiethnicity of Old Istanbul in the Works of Barbara Nadel and Jason Goodwin Hande Tekdemir	25
Utopian Fiction and Imperial Homogeneity: The Case of William Morris's News from Nowhere (1890) and Yussuf Sybaai's The Land of Hypocrisy (1949) Fadwa Mahmoud Hassan Gad	41

II. Interference of the Imperial Tradition in Asia

Colonizing the Mind: Education and Literacy in Colonial India Sukanya Gupta	57
Re-presenting the Empire: the Picturesque Aesthetic in Satyajit Ray's The Chess Players Aishwarya Lakshmi	69
Deconstructing the Instant-Mix Imperial Democracy: Arundhati Roy's Political Essays Geetha Ganapathy-Doré	79

Nuclear Imperialism: The United States and Micronesia Kathleen Flanagan	91
III. Reformulations of the Imperial Project
The Nemesis of Empire as Mimesis Vladimir Suchan	103
Empire, Allegorical Imperative, and Games of Truth: J. M. Coetzee's Waiting for the Barbarians Deepa Jani	125
"Child-Emporerer (Vacncy)": Apprehending U.S. Empire through Robert Fitterman's Metropolis Gilbert Adair	137
"The Armageddon Election" and the Antichrist Debates Will Harris	149
Imperialism is on the March: Market Tyranny and the Fight Beyond Revolution Gabrielle Naglieri	157
Contributors	169