

Contents

List of Figures	ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xvii
Introduction. Archives and the Web: Changes and Opportunities	1
<hr/>
Chapter 1. Web 2.0 Basics	9
What Is “Web 2.0” All About?	9
Web 2.0 Building Blocks	11
RSS (or “Really Simple Syndication”)	11
Tagging	12
Social Bookmarking	12
Myths and Misconceptions about Web 2.0	15
“Those Sites Are Scary and Dangerous”	15
“Only Kids Use That Stuff”	16
“It’s Just a Fad”	16
“If I Give My Content Away, People Will Misuse It”	17
“If I Give My Content Away, I’ll Lose Money”	17
<hr/>
Chapter 2. Evaluating Your Current Web Presence and Setting Goals for Web 2.0	21
Assessing Your Current Web Site	21
Does Your Web Site Answer the Key Questions—Who, What, When, Where, and How?	22
Does Your Site Look Professional and Current?	23

Is Your Web Site Usable?	24
Assessing Your Existing Digital Resources	25
Online Catalogs and Finding Aids	25
Digitized Collections and Online Exhibitions	26
Assessing Your Technical Resources	27
Professional Technical Support	27
Staff and Volunteers with Skills	28
Hardware and Software	28
Understanding Your Strategic Priorities	29
Identifying Your Audiences	30
Existing Audiences versus New Audiences	31
Local Audiences versus Distant Audiences	31

Chapter 3. Using Blogs 33

What Is a Blog?	33
Parts of a Blog	34
Sidebar Content	35
Blog Comments	35
How Can Your Institution Use a Blog?	36
Institutional Blogs	36
Processing Blogs	40
Archival Content Blogs	45
Blogs Supporting Traditional Archival Systems	51
What Does It Take to Start a Blog and Keep It Going?	52

Chapter 4. Using Podcasts 57

What Is a Podcast?	57
Key Attributes	57
Accessing a Podcast	58
Podcast Structure	58
Information to Support a Podcast	59
How Can Your Institution Use a Podcast?	59
Podcasting Public Programs	59
Podcasting Digitized Archival Material	64
Creating Unique Podcast Programs	68
What Does It Take to Start a Podcast and Keep It Going?	71

Chapter 5. Using Flickr and Other Image-Sharing Sites	79
What Are Image-Sharing Sites?	79
Setting Up a Flickr Account	80
Uploading, Organizing, and Creating Metadata for Images	80
Interacting with Other Flickr Users	81
Letting People Interact with Your Images	82
The Flickr Commons	83
How Can Your Institution Use Flickr?	83
Sharing Digitized Archival Material	83
Sharing Current Photographs of Your Organization	89
What Does It Take to Be Active on Flickr?	93
Chapter 6. Using YouTube and Other Video-Sharing Sites	101
What Are Video-Sharing Sites?	101
Setting Up Accounts and Channels	102
Finding Videos	103
Interacting with and Organizing Videos	103
Interacting with Other Users	104
Uploading and Creating Metadata for Your Videos	104
How Can Your Institution Use Video-Sharing Sites?	106
Sharing Digitized Historical Content	108
Sharing Videos You Created	113
What Does It Take to Be Successful with Video Sharing?	117
Chapter 7. Using Twitter (Microblogging)	121
What Is Microblogging and What Is Twitter?	121
Setting Up a Twitter Account	121
Creating “Tweets,” Following and Being Followed on Twitter	122
Some Twitter Conventions	123
Accessing Twitter	123
How Can Your Institution Use Twitter?	124
Providing News about Your Institution	124
Innovative Uses for Twitter	127
What Does It Take to Be Active on Twitter?	133

Chapter 8. Using Wikis 137

What Is a Wiki?	137
What Wiki Web Sites Look Like to Users	138
Contributing to a Wiki	140
How Can Your Institution Use a Wiki?	141
Wikis Created Primarily by Internal Contributors	141
Wikis Targeted at Public Contributors	146
What Does It Take to Start a Wiki and Keep It Going?	153

Chapter 9. Using Facebook and Other Social Networking Services 159

What Are Social Networking Services?	159
Types of Facebook Accounts	160
Establishing Your Facebook Presence	160
Public and Private Information on Facebook	161
Facebook Groups	161
Facebook Pages	163
Common Capabilities of Groups and Pages	165
How Can Your Institution Use Facebook?	167
Providing General Information	167
Sharing Content and News	167
Communicating with Supporters	169
Sharing Information from Other Web 2.0 Sites	171
Creating an Application	173
Collecting Documentation of Your Community	174
What Does It Take to Be Active on Facebook?	175

Chapter 10. More 2.0 Tools to Consider 179

Mashups	179
What Is a Mashup?	179
Archives and Historical Organizations Creating Mashups	180
Widgets	186
What Is a Widget?	186
Archives and Historical Organizations and Widgets	187
Online Chat	189
How Does Online Chat Work?	190
Online Chat in Archives and Historical Organizations	191

Second Life	191
How Does Second Life Work?	193
Archives and Historical Organizations in Second Life	194

Chapter 11. Measuring Your Success 199

Plan How You're Going to Measure Before You Implement	200
Measuring Outputs	200
Measuring Outcomes	202
Establishing Baseline Measurements	204
Ensuring You Can Measure "Before" and "After"	204
Creating Effective Measures of Web 2.0 "Outputs"	205
Documenting Evidence of Your Success	206
Capture Compelling Stories	207
Sometimes the Medium Is the Message	207

Chapter 12. Management and Other Considerations 209

Planning for Success	209
Getting Institutional Buy-In	209
Considering Legal Issues	210
Defining Tasks and Assigning Workload	212
Creating Policies	213
Preserving What You Create	214
Learning about Your Users	216
Publicizing Your Efforts	217
Keeping Yourself in a "2.0" Frame of Mind	219

Conclusion. Archives and the Web: Finding the Right Balance 221

Appendix. Additional Resources 227

Resources on Web 2.0, Social Media, the Evolution of the Web, and Related Topics	227
Information on Specific Web 2.0 Tools	234
Publications by Librarians and Archivists	235

Index 241

About the Author 246