

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgements	ix
List of Countries	xiii
1 Backgrounds of Nonresponse	1
1.1 Introduction	1
1.2 Declining Response Rates	2
1.3 Total Survey Quality and Nonresponse	3
1.4 Optimizing Comparability	5
2 Survey Response in Cross-national Studies	9
2.1 Introduction	9
2.2 Harmonization Models	10
2.3 Contactability	13
2.4 Ability to Cooperate	16
2.5 Willingness to Cooperate	17
2.5.1 Social environment and survey culture	17
2.5.2 Households and individuals	19
2.5.3 Survey design	20
2.5.4 Interviewers	23
2.5.5 Interviewer–respondent interaction: why people cooperate	24
2.6 Nonresponse Bias	29
2.6.1 What is nonresponse bias?	29
2.6.2 Combating and adjusting for nonresponse bias	33
2.7 Ethics and Humans	37
3 The European Social Survey	39
3.1 Introduction	39
3.2 What is the European Social Survey?	39
3.2.1 Aims, history and philosophy	39
3.2.2 Content	42
3.2.3 Participating countries	43
3.2.4 Organization and structure	44

3.3	ESS Design and Methodology	49
3.3.1	The central specification	49
3.3.2	Quality and optimal comparability	51
3.3.3	Sampling designs, procedures and definitions of the population	55
3.3.4	Fieldwork and contracting	57
3.4	Nonresponse Targets, Strategies and Documentation	59
3.4.1	Background	59
3.4.2	Requirements and guidelines	60
3.4.3	Definition and calculation of response rates	61
3.4.4	Contact forms	67
3.5	Conclusions	69
	Appendix 3.1 A Contact Form as Used in ESS 3	70
4	Implementation of the European Social Survey	75
4.1	Introduction	75
4.2	Basic Survey Features	76
4.2.1	Survey organization, administration mode and sample	76
4.2.2	Sample size, number of interviewers and length of fieldwork period	78
4.2.3	Survey costs	81
4.3	Practical Fieldwork Issues	82
4.3.1	Interviewers	82
4.3.2	Information and incentives	85
4.4	Summary and Conclusions	87
5	Response and Nonresponse Rates in the European Social Survey	89
5.1	Data and Definitions	89
5.2	Response and Nonresponse Rates in ESS 3	92
5.2.1	Rate of ineligible	92
5.2.2	Response rate	93
5.2.3	Structure of nonresponse	94
5.3	Response Rate Changes Over Time	95
5.3.1	Overview	95
5.3.2	Response rate trends for specific countries	99
5.4	Response Rate Differences and Fieldwork Efforts	102
5.4.1	Response rate differences across countries and fieldwork efforts	102
5.4.2	Change in response rates over time and change in fieldwork efforts	106
6	Response Enhancement Through Extended Interviewer Efforts	115
6.1	Introduction	115
6.2	Previous Research on Contactability	117
6.2.1	Factors in establishing contact	117

6.2.2	Who is hard to contact?	118
6.2.3	Call patterns and strategies	120
6.3	Previous Research on Cooperation	122
6.3.1	Covariates of cooperation	122
6.3.2	Causes of cooperation and noncooperation	126
6.3.3	Attitudes towards surveys and reasons for refusal	127
6.4	Sample Type and Recruitment Mode in the ESS	129
6.4.1	Sampling issues	129
6.4.2	Recruitment mode	131
6.5	Establishing Contact in the ESS	133
6.5.1	Introduction	133
6.5.2	Noncontact rates	133
6.5.3	Ease of contact and number of calls	135
6.5.4	Timing of calls	138
6.6	Obtaining Cooperation in the ESS	142
6.6.1	Introduction	142
6.6.2	Cooperation rates	144
6.6.3	Cooperation and number of contacts	144
6.6.4	Reasons for refusal	150
6.7	Effects of Enhanced Field Efforts in the ESS	153
6.8	Conclusion	156
	Appendix 6.1 Response Outcomes in ESS 1, 2 and 3 (%)	158
7	Refusal Conversion	161
7.1	Introduction	161
7.2	Previous Research	162
7.2.1	Research questions	162
7.2.2	How successful is refusal conversion?	164
7.2.3	Which factors contribute to successful conversion?	166
7.2.4	Refusal conversion and data quality	168
7.3	Refusal Conversion in the ESS	171
7.3.1	Efforts and effects	171
7.3.2	Refusal type and refusal conversion	176
7.3.3	Timing of refusal conversion attempts	182
7.4	Refusal Conversion and Data Quality	188
7.4.1	Refusal conversion and sample representativeness	189
7.4.2	Refusal conversion and measurement error in the ESS	191
7.5	Discussion and Conclusions	199
	Appendix 7.1 Interviewer Variance in Cooperation Rates	202
8	Designs for Detecting Nonresponse Bias and Adjustment	205
8.1	What is Nonresponse Bias?	205
8.2	Methods for Assessing Nonresponse Bias	207
8.2.1	Comparing response rates across subgroups in samples	207

8.2.2	Comparing respondent-based estimates with similar estimates from other sources	207
8.2.3	Comparing estimates between subgroups in the obtained samples	208
8.2.4	Enriching the sampling frame data with data from external sources	210
8.2.5	Contrasting alternative post-survey adjustments for nonresponse	211
8.3	Detecting and Estimating Bias in the ESS	214
8.3.1	Post-stratification	214
8.3.2	Comparing cooperative with reluctant respondents	229
8.3.3	Using additional observable data collected for all target persons	243
8.3.4	The study of bias using core information on nonrespondents	252
8.4	Conclusions	278
Appendix 8.1	Overview core variables and constructs	281
Appendix 8.2	Questionnaires nonresponse modules	286
9	Lessons Learned	293
9.1	Introduction	293
9.2	Standardization, Tailoring and Control	295
9.3	Achieving High Response Rates	298
9.4	Refusal Conversion	299
9.5	Nonresponse Bias	300
9.6	Contact Forms and Fieldwork Monitoring	302
9.7	Into the Future	303
	References	305
	Glossary	321
	Index	325