

Contents

List of Illustrations	9
Acknowledgments	11
Maria Del Sapio Garbero Introduction: Shakespeare's Rome and Renaissance 'Anthropographie'	13
Maddalena Pennacchia A Map of the Essays	21
Part I Human Bodies
Maria Del Sapio Garbero Anatomy, Knowledge, and Conspiracy: in Shakespeare's Arena with the Words of Cassius	33
Claudia Corti The Iconic Body: Coriolanus and Renaissance Corporeality	57
Maurizio Calbi States of Exception: Auto-immunity and the Body Politic in Shakespeare's Coriolanus	77
Ute Berns Performing Anatomy in Shakespeare's Julius Caesar	95
Mariangela Tempera Titus Andronicus : Staging the Mutilated Roman Body	109

Antonella Piazza
Volumnia, the Roman Patroness	121
Iolanda Plescia
“From me was Posthumus ript”: Cymbeline and the Extraordinary Birth	135
Barbara Antonucci
Blood in Language: the Galenic Paradigm of Humours in The Rape of Lucrece and Titus Andronicus	149
Paola Faini
Cleopatra’s Corporeal Language	161
Simona Corso
What Calphurnia knew. Julius Caesar and the Language of Dreams	171
Viola Papetti
Under the sign of Ovid. Motion and Instance in A Midsummer Night’s Dream	191
Michele Marrapodi
Mens sana in corpore sano : the Rhetoric of the Body in Shakespeare’s Roman and Late Plays	197
Alessandro Serpieri
Body and History in the Political Rhetoric of Julius Caesar	219
Part II Earthly and Heavenly Bodies
Manfred Pfister
“Rome and her rats”: Coriolanus and the Early Modern Crisis of Distinction between Man, Beast and Monster	239
John Gillies
“Mighty Space”: the Ordinate and Exorbitant in two Shakespeare Plays	259
Gilberta Golinelli
Floating Borders: (Dis)-locating Otherness in the Female Body, and the Question of Miscegenation in Titus Andronicus	275

Andrea Bellelli
 Where do diseases come from? Reflections on Shakespeare’s “contagion of the south” 287

Giovanni Antonini and Gloria Grazia Rosa
 Shakespeare and Mandragora 295

Maddalena Pennacchia
 The Stones of Rome. Early Earth Sciences in Julius Caesar and Coriolanus 309

Gilberto Sacerdoti
 Spontaneous Generation and New Astronomy in Shakespeare’s Antony and Cleopatra 327

Nancy Isenberg
 Dancing with the Stars in Antony and Cleopatra 341

Nancy Isenberg
 Afterword: “A Space for Farther Travel” 355

Notes on Contributors 361

Works Cited 367