

Contents

	Page
List of figures	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
Preface to the second edition	xv
1 Introduction: the naming of parts	1
What is/are/was/were postmodernism(s)?	1
Stop and think	4
2 Postmodernism: philosophy, cultural theory and theology	18
Philosophical champions of postmodernism	19
French double-acts – the two Jeans	19
Stop and think	24
Stop and think	29
Schizoanalysis: Deleuze and Guattari	30
Gianni Vattimo and ‘weak thought’	32
Stop and think	35
Adversaries of postmodernism	35
Jürgen Habermas	36
Fredric Jameson	38
Stop and think	40
The Žižek effect	41
Stop and think	44
Postmodernism and feminism	44
Stop and think	47

Postcolonialism and postmodernism	48
Stop and think	52
Postmodern theology: a contradiction in terms?	53
Selected reading	60
3 Postmodernism and the literary arts	63
Postmodern fiction	63
Exhaustion and replenishment: postmodern fiction's attack on realism	65
Stop and think	67
Postmodern fiction and history	68
Irony and transgression	71
Stop and think	75
Postmodern fiction by other means	75
Key characteristics of postmodern fiction	81
Postmodern fiction: an example	82
Postmodern poetry	84
Reading language writing	87
Stop and think	92
Key characteristics of postmodern poetry	93
Postmodern poetry: an example	93
Postmodern theatre and performance	95
Stop and think	100
Selected reading	101
4 Postmodern architecture and concepts of space	107
Modernist architecture	107
Postmodernist reactions	111
What there is to learn from Las Vegas	113
Charles Jencks and 'dual-coding'	116
Stop and think	119
Architectural languages	120
Deconstructive architecture	122
'Monstrous carbuncles' or rural retreats?	127
Architecture into the new millennium: new complexity, 'blobmeisters' and ecological enterprises	129

Stop and think	134
Key characteristics of postmodernist architecture	135
Postmodern architecture: some examples	136
Spatial experience and geography	140
Selected reading	145
5 Postmodernism in visual art, sculpture, and the design arts	149
Visual art	150
Craig Owens: postmodernism as the return of allegory	156
Feminist art	159
Photography	162
Stop and think	164
Key characteristics of postmodern visual art	165
Postmodern visual art: some examples	165
Sculpture, plastic and performance art	171
Rosalind Krauss: postmodernism and land art	172
Installations and performance art	174
Stop and think	176
Key characteristics of sculpture, plastic and performance art	177
Postmodern sculpture and performance art: some examples	177
Creative design	182
Key characteristics of creative design	186
Postmodern design: some examples	186
Selected reading	188
6 Postmodernism, popular culture and music	191
Debates in popular culture	192
Pop music and eclectic styles	198
Stop and think	203
Key characteristics of postmodern pop music	205
Postmodern pop music: some examples	205
'Experimental' music: well-tempered music and bad-tempered debate	206

	Stop and think	217
	Key characteristics of postmodern ‘experimental’ music	218
	Postmodern music: an example	218
	Selected reading	222
7	Postmodernism, film, video and televisual culture	225
	Television: zipping and zapping	225
	Stop and think	234
	VJs displace DJs: videos and MTV	235
	Stop and think	240
	Screening the image: postmodern film	240
	Stop and think	246
	Key characteristics of postmodern film	246
	Postmodern film: an example	247
	Televisual prosthetics and postmodern cyberbodies	249
	Selected reading	258
8	Postmodernism and the social sciences	261
	Positivism and the social sciences	262
	Social psychology	270
	Stop and think	272
	International relations theory	274
	Stop and think	278
	The postmodern challenge: textualising IR theory	279
	Stop and think	283
	Selected reading	284
9	Conclusion: whither postmodernism?	287
	Select bibliography	294
	Index	318