

Content

Almut Suerbaum, in collaboration with Manuele Gragnolati
Medieval Culture ‘betwixt and between’. An introduction	1
I. ‘Präsenzeffekte’:
Performative presence in ritual acts of remembrance
Annie Sutherland
Performing the Penitential Psalms in the Middle Ages: Maidstone and Bampton	15
C. M. MacRobert
‘Remember me in your prayers’: Reading the Church Slavonic Psalter as an act of commemoration	39
Benjamin Thompson
Performing Parliament in the Rotuli Parliamentorum	61
II. Performing the self:
Constructions of authorial identity
Monika Otter
Scurrilitas: Sex, magic, rhetoric, and performance of fictionality in Anselm of Besate’s Rhetorimachia	101
Manuele Gragnolati
Authorship and performance in Dante’s Vita nova	125
Almut Suerbaum
Paradoxes of performance: Autobiography in the songs of Hugo von Montfort and Oswald von Wolkenstein	143

Francesca Southerden
Performative desires: Sereni's restaging of Dante and Petrarch	165
 III. Embodied voice: Reading and re-reading
Owen Rees
Singing to the Virgin and joking with the singers: Josquin's Inviolata	199
Melanie Florence
Re-presenting set-piece description in the courtly romance: Hartmann's adaptation of Chrétien's Erec et Enide	221
Alastair Matthews
'Ich pin der haid Aristotiles, ein exemplel nemend des': Performing Aristotle's lessons	245
Fabian Lampart
Dante's reception in German literature: a question of performance?	277
 List of abbreviations	299
Selected bibliography	301
Index	315