

Table of Contents

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS .....                                       | 7   |
| ACKNOWLEDGMENTS .....   | 9   |
| INTRODUCTION .....  | 11  |
| CHAPTER ONE   |     |
| Historicizing the Fantastic .....                                 | 17  |
| The Scope and History of the Fantastic .....                      | 17  |
| The Literature of Ontological Variability .....                   | 25  |
| For a Prehistory of the Fantastic .....                           | 38  |
| CHAPTER TWO   |     |
| The Natural, the Supernatural, and the Problem of Mediation ..... | 61  |
| Empirical Supernaturalism: Science and Philosophy.....            | 63  |
| Empirical Supernaturalism: Providential Narratives.....           | 69  |
| The Novel as Providential Narrative.....                          | 73  |
| The Naturalization of the Monstrous .....                         | 86  |
| Ghosts in the Age of Reason.....                                  | 97  |
| CHAPTER THREE   |     |
| From Empirical Demonology to Supernatural Fiction .....           | 103 |
| Empirical Demonology: Glanvill, Baxter, Aubrey .....              | 105 |
| The Autonomization of Apparition Narratives .....                 | 115 |
| The Dramatization of Ontological Hesitation (I):                  |     |
| The Apparition-Evidence .....                              | 125 |
| Defoe and the Supernatural.....                                   | 129 |
| The Dramatization of Ontological Hesitation (II):                 |     |
| The Duncan Campbell Narratives.....                               | 137 |
| The Castle of Otranto and the Aestheticization             |     |
| of the Supernatural .....   | 143 |

CHAPTER FOUR

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| The Rise of Imaginary Voyages .....   | 151 |
| Precursors: The Man in the Mooneand the Marvels of the New World .....                                 | 152 |
| Precursors: The Natural andthe Supernatural in Cyrano's Comical History .....                          | 157 |
| The Adventures of Mr. T. S.Empiricism, Monsters, and the Wrath of God .....                            | 161 |
| The Blazing World and the Power of Fancy .....   | 166 |
| Iter Lunare : Imaginary Voyages as Conjectural Literature .....  | 174 |
| The Consolidator : Fantastic Representationas Allegorical Satire .....                                 | 178 |
| 'Criticism Was for a While Lost in Wonder':The Empirical and the Monstrous in Gulliver's Travels ..... | 183 |
| Gulliver's Epigones:Ontological Hesitation and the Persistence of Satire .....                                | 188 |
| The Extraordinary Case of Automathes :Nature, Revelation, and Intelligent Design .....                 | 196 |
| Peter Wilkins and the Transformation of the Supernatural .....   | 200 |
| John Daniel, William Bingfield ,and the Transformation of the Monstrous .....                          | 205 |
| CONCLUSION: Experimenting with the Supernatural .....   | 213 |
| BIBLIOGRAPHY .....  | 221 |
| INDEX .....   | 233 |

List of Illustrations

|      |  |     |
|------|--|-----|
| i.   | Title-page of Signes and Wonders from Heaven (1641).....                                      | 88  |
| ii.  | The Worlds Wonder! Or, The Prophetical Fish(broadsheet, 1666).....                        | 91  |
| iii. | Title-page of A True and Perfect Accountof the Miraculous Sea-Monster (1674) ..... | 92  |
| iv.  | Frontispiece of The Travels and Adventuresof William Bingfield, Esq. (1753).....   | 210 |