

CONTENTS

List of Figures	v
List of Tables	vii
List of Contributors	x
1 Editorial Introduction P. CONGDON AND P. BATEY	1
PART I Demographic Information for Spatial Planning
2 Urban Demographic Information Systems L. WORRALL	25
3 Migration Monitoring and Strategic Planning J. FORBES	41
4 Demographic Change at the Small-Area Level: Implications for the Planning of Canberra S. NUGENT AND H. RAMPA	58
PART II Demographic Forecasts and Projections at Sub-national Level
5 Stability over Time in the Distribution of Population Forecast Errors S. SMITH AND T. SINCICH	73
6 Developing Centralised Household Projections for National and Sub-national Areas I. CORNER	91
7 Time-Series Analysis Forecasts of a Parameterised Mortality Schedule R. McNOWN AND A. ROGERS	107
8 A Model with which to Forecast Employment and Population Change at the Regional and Sub-regional Level P. TYLER AND J. RHODES	124
9 Demographic-Economic Impact Forecasting in Non-metropolitan Regions: an Australian Example P. PHIBBS	150

PART III Models for Settlement and Redistribution

- 10 Population Redistribution in Western Europe: Trends since 1950 and the Debate about Counter-urbanisation 167
A. FIELDING
- 11 Trends and Structure in London's Migration and their Relation to Employment and Housing Markets 180
P. CONGDON AND A. CHAMPION
- 12 Migration Trends and Population Projections for the Elderly 205
P. REES, J. STILLWELL AND P. BODEN

PART IV Models for Migration in the Labour Market

- 13 Migration, Population and Regional Labour Supply: Macro- and Micro-economic Approaches 229
G. EVERS
- 14 Compound and Generalised Poisson Models for Inter-urban Migration 246
A. FLOWERDEW AND A. LOVETT
- 15 US Migration Pattern Responses to the Oil Glut and Recession of the Early 1980s: an Application of Shift-Share and Causative-
Matrix Techniques 257
D. PLANE AND P. ROGERSON
- Index 281