

Contents

List of Tables	vii
Acknowledgements	viii
Notes on Contributors	ix
Introduction	1
Michał Krzyżanowski, Anna Triandafyllidou and Ruth Wodak
Part I: Europe and the Media at Times of Crisis: Theoretical Reflections	13
1. Europe – Discourse – Politics – Media – History: Constructing ‘Crises’? Bo Stráth and Ruth Wodak	15
2. Media, Political Communication and the European Public Sphere Paschal Preston and Monika Metykova	34
Part II: Crisis Events and the Idea of Europe in Post-War Media Debates	51
3. Out of Maelstroms: Crises and Parlous Developments of Europe since World War Two James Kaye	53
4. The 1956 Hungarian Revolution in the Hungarian, Austrian and German Media András Kovács, Anikó Horváth and Nadežda Kinsky-Müngersdorff	83
5. The Berlin Wall Crisis: Global Cold War and the Role of Europe Hagen Schulz-Forberg	115
6. Paris in May 1968: Social Conflict, Democracy and the Role of Europe Hagen Schulz-Forberg	135
7. ‘Progressive’ versus ‘Bureaucratic’ Socialism: the Media Coverage of Prague 1968 in the ‘Other’ Europe Primoz Krasovec and Igor Z. Žagar	156
8. The Discursive Construction of Europe and Values in the Coverage of the Polish 1981 ‘State of War’ in the European Press Michał Krzyżanowski	174

9. The Fall of the Berlin Wall: European and Value-Oriented Dimensions in the News Discourse	198
Jessika ter Wal, Anna Triandafyllidou, Chiara Steindler and Maria Kontochristou
10. Europe's Role in the World: the Invasion of Iraq and the Outbreak of the Second Gulf War	219
Jessika ter Wal, Anna Triandafyllidou, Chiara Steindler and Maria Kontochristou
11. The Mohammed Cartoons Crisis 2006: the Role of Islam in the European Public Sphere	239
Jessika ter Wal, Anna Triandafyllidou, Chiara Steindler and Maria Kontochristou
Conclusions: Europe, Media, Crisis and the European Public Sphere	261
Michał Krzyżanowski, Anna Triandafyllidou and Ruth Wodak
Bibliography	269
Index	283