

Contents

Foreword by Paul Cloke	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
PART 1 INTRODUCING RURAL GEOGRAPHY	1
1 Defining the Rural	3
Introduction	3
Why bother with rural?	4
Descriptive definitions	5
Socio-cultural definitions	9
The rural as a locality	10
The rural as social representation	10
Thinking about rurality in two English villages: a case study	13
Summary	15
2 Understanding the Rural	17
Introduction	17
The geographical tradition	18
The sociological tradition	19
The anthropological tradition	21
The political-economic approach	22
Rural studies and the cultural turn	24
Summary	25
PART 2 PROCESSES OF RURAL RESTRUCTURING	27
3 Globalization, Modernity and the Rural World	29
Introduction	29
Modernity, technology and social change	30
Globalization and the rural	32
Summary	40
4 Agricultural Change	42
Introduction	42
California: the laboratory of capitalist agriculture	43

State intervention in agriculture	45
Productivist agriculture	47
The farm crisis	51
The post-productivist transition	54
The future of farming?	57
Summary	59
5 The Changing Rural Economy	62
Introduction	62
Forestry, fishing and mining: the fluctuating fortunes of the primary sector	63
Manufacturing industry	65
The service sector in rural areas	67
Teleworking in the countryside	70
Summary	70
6 Social and Demographic Change	72
Introduction	72
From urbanization to counterurbanization	72
The drivers of counterurbanization	76
Re-appraising counterurbanization	78
Class recomposition in rural areas	84
Summary	89
7 Changing Communities: Restructuring Rural Services	91
Introduction	91
Conceptualizing community	92
The disappearance of rural services	96
Accessibility to services and rural public transport	103
Overcoming isolation: from mail order to the Internet	105
Summary	108
8 Environmental Change and Rural Areas	110
Introduction	110
Rurality and nature	110
Agriculture and the rural environment	113
Urbanization and the physical development of the countryside	119
Climate change	121
Summary	125
PART 3 RESPONSES TO RURAL RESTRUCTURING	127
9 Rural Policy and the Response to Restructuring	129
Introduction	129
The enigma of rural policy	130
The policy-making process	132
The challenges for rural policy	138
Summary	143
10 Rural Development and Regeneration	145
Introduction	145
State intervention and top-down development	146

Bottom-up rural regeneration	149
Small town regeneration	154
The limits to rural development?	158
Summary	158
11 Rural Governance	160
Introduction	160
From paternalism to governance	161
The characteristics of rural governance	164
Issues raised by rural governance	169
Summary	170
12 Selling the Countryside	172
Introduction	172
The commodification of the rural	174
Rural production sites as tourist attractions	175
The commodification of rural heritage	177
Fictional rural landscapes	181
Embodied experiences of rural adventure	182
The rural as a marketing device	183
Summary	184
13 Protecting the Countryside	186
Introduction	186
Protected areas	187
Land use planning and development control	197
Agri-environmental schemes	202
Animals and the rural environment	206
Summary	207
14 Rural Conflicts	210
Introduction	210
Contesting development in the countryside	212
Rural resource conflicts	215
Hunting and the rural way of life	216
Summary	218
PART 4 EXPERIENCES OF RURAL RESTRUCTURING	221
15 Changing Rural Lifestyles	223
Introduction	223
Farmers' tales of agricultural restructuring in New Zealand	224
Villagers' tales of community change in southern England	225
Neglected rural geographies	226
Gender and the rural	228
Summary	229
16 Living in the Countryside: Housing, Health and Crime	231
Introduction	231
Rural housing	231

Rural health	237
Crime and rural communities	239
Summary	242
17 Growing Up and Growing Old in the Countryside	244
Introduction	244
Rural childhoods	244
Young adults in rural communities	248
Elderly rural residents	252
Summary	254
18 Working in the Countryside	256
Introduction	256
Finding work in rural areas	257
Gender and rural employment	259
Migrant workers in the rural economy	262
Commuting	264
Summary	266
19 Hidden Rural Lifestyles: Poverty and Social Exclusion	268
Introduction	268
Evidence of rural poverty	270
Experiences of rural poverty	274
Summary	277
20 Rurality, National Identity and Ethnicity	279
Introduction	279
Rurality and national identity	280
Contesting the rural as a white space	282
The rural black experience in America	284
First nation ruralities	285
Summary	289
21 Alternative Rural Lifestyles	291
Introduction	291
Travellers and rurality	291
Alternative rural communities	293
Militant reactionary ruralities	294
Summary	296
PART 5 CONCLUSIONS	297
22 Thinking Again About the Rural	299
The differentiated countryside	299
Processes, responses and experiences	299
Re-thinking rurality	301
Bibliography	305
Index	321