

The Contributors

Preface

1. Introduction 1
Nurit Kliot and Stanley Waterman

PART I : THEORY AND POLITICAL GEOGRAPHY

2. The question of theory in political geography . . . 9
Peter J. Taylor
3. Theory and traditional political geography 19
Saul B. Cohen
4. Who needs theory? A response from the schizophrenic middle ground 24
Ronald J. Johnston
5. The question of theory in political geography:
Outlines for a critical theory approach 29
Ray Hudson

PART II : PEOPLE - HUMAN PERSPECTIVES ON PLURALISM

6. Equity and freedom in political geography 36
Paul Claval
7. Political integration and division in plural societies - problems of recognition, measurement and salience 47
J. Neville H. Douglas
8. Dilemmas of pluralism in the United States 69
Richard L. Morrill

9.	The changing situation of majority and minority and its spatial expression - the case of the Arab minority in Israel	80
	Arnon Soffer
10.	Communal conflict in Jerusalem - the spread of ultra-Orthodox neighbourhoods	100
	Yosseph Shilhav
PART III : TERRITORIAL PERSPECTIVES ON PLURALISM
11.	The dilemma of nations in a rigid state structured world	114
	David B. Knight
12.	The international frontier in microcosm - the Shankill-Falls Divide; Belfast	138
	Frederick W. Boal and David N. Livingstone
13.	Dissimilarities in the evolution of frontier characteristics along boundaries of differing political and cultural regions	159
	Moshe Brawer
14.	Dualism and landscape transformation in Northern Sinai - some outcomes of the Egypt-Israel Peace Treaty	173
	Nurit Kliot
15.	Space, territory and competition - Israel and the West Bank	187
	Gwyn Rowley
PART IV : PLURALISM - THE STATE AND THE WORLD
16.	On the instrumental function of political geography	201
	Shalom Reichman
17.	The transformation of local government from counties to regions	215
	Andrew F. Burghardt
18.	Versatility versus continuity - the dilemma of jurisdictional change	228
	Rex D. Honey
19.	Intergovernmental relationships and the territorial structure of federal states	245
	Ronan Paddison

20.	Boundaries as barriers – the predicament of land-locked countries	259
	Hendrik-Jan A. Reitsma
21.	Identifying regional alliances and blocs in the United Nations voting – some preliminary results of votes affecting Israel	270
	Stanley D. Brunn and Gerald L. Ingalls
22.	A geopolitical model for international behaviour . .	284
	Robert W. McColl
23.	American foreign policy for the eighties	295
	Saul B. Cohen

CONCLUSION

24.	Overview	311
	Stanley Waterman and Nurit Kliot

Index