

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgments vii

Introduction: German Suffering? 1
Paul Cooke and Marc Silberman

I. Hidden Screens: Soldiers, Martyrs, Innocent German Victims

1: Armchair Warriors: Heroic Postures in the West German War Film 17
Jennifer M. Kapczynski

2: German Martyrs: Images of Christianity and Resistance to National Socialism in German Cinema 36
David Clarke

3: The Rhetoric of Victim Narratives in West German Films of the 1950s 56
Manuel Köppen

II. Projection Screens: Disavowing Loss, Transforming Antifascism, Contesting Memories

4: Sissi the Terrible: Melodrama, Victimhood, and Imperial Nostalgia in the Sissi Trilogy 81
Erica Carter

5: Political Affects: Antifascism and the Second World War in Frank Beyer and Konrad Wolf 102
Sabine Hake

6: Shadowlands: The Memory of the Ostgebiete in Contemporary German Film and Television 123
Tim Bergfelder

III. Display Screens: Generational Traumas, Untimely Passions, Open Wounds

- 7: Links and Chains: Trauma between the Generations in the Heimat Mode 145
Rachel Palfreyman
- 8: Resistance of the Heart: Female Suffering and Victimhood in DEFA's Antifascist Films 165
Daniela Berghahn
- 9: Suffering and Sympathy in Volker Schlöndorff's
Der neunte Tag and Dennis Gansel's NaPoLA 187
Brad Prager

IV. Split Screens: Ambiguous Authorities, Decentered Emotions, Performed Identities

- 10: Eberhard Fechner's History of Suffering: TV Talk,
Temporal Distance, Spatial Displacement 209
John E. Davidson
- 11: The Politics of Feeling: Alexander Kluge on War, Film, and Emotion 230
Johannes von Moltke
- 12: Post-unification German-Jewish Relations and the Discourse of Victimhood in Dani Levy's Films 251
Seán Allan
- Works Cited 267
- Notes on the Contributors 287
- Index of Film Titles 293
- Index of Names and Subjects 297