

Table of Contents

Preface	IX
---------------	----

PART I: Introduction: Speaking, Seeing, Writing in the Shaping of New Genres

Susan Niditch

Hebrew Bible and Oral Literature: Misconceptions and New Directions	3
--	---

Teun L. Tieleman

Orality and Writing in Ancient Philosophy: Their Interrelationship and the Shaping of Literary Forms	19
---	----

Catherine Hezser

From Oral Conversations to Written Texts: Randomness in the Transmission of Rabbinic Traditions	36
--	----

Antoinette Clark Wire

Mark: News as Tradition	52
-------------------------------	----

Werner Kelber

The History of the Closure of Biblical Texts	71
--	----

PART II: Speaking in the Shaping of New Genres

John Miles Foley

Plenitude and Diversity: Interactions between Orality and Writing ...	103
---	-----

Kristina Dronsch

Transmissions from Scripturality to Orality: Hearing the Voice of Jesus in Mark 4:1–34	119
---	-----

Ruben Zimmermann

Memory and Form Criticism: The Typicality of Memory as a Bridge between Orality and Literality in the Early Christian Remembering Process	130
---	-----

Richard A. Horsley
The Gospel of Mark in the Interface of Orality and Writing	144
David Rhoads
Performance Events in Early Christianity: New Testament Writings in an Oral Context	166
David Trobisch
Performance Criticism as an Exegetical Method: A Story, Three Insights, and Two Jokes	194
 PART III: Seeing in the Shaping of New Genres
Kristina Dronsch and Annette Weissenrieder
A Theory of the Message for New Testament Writings or Communicating the Words of Jesus: From Angelos to Euangelion	205
David L. Balch
Women Prophets/Maenads Visually Represented in Two Roman Colonies: Pompeii and Corinth	236
Annette Weissenrieder
The Didactics of Images: The Fig Tree in Mark 11:12–14 and 20–21	260
 PART IV: Writing in the Shaping of New Genres
Annette Schellenberg
A “lying pen of the scribes” (Jer 8:8)? Orality and Writing in the Formation of Prophetic Books	285
Roger S. Nam
Writing Songs, Singing Songs: The Oral and the Written in the Commission of the Levitical Singers (1 Chr 25:1–6)	310
Andreas Schuele
“Call on me in the day of trouble . . .” From Oral Lament to Lament Psalms	322
Pieter J. J. Botha
“Publishing” a Gospel: Notes on Historical Constraints to Gospel Criticism	335

Daniel Boyarin
The Sovereignty of the Son of Man: Reading Mark 2	353
Robert B. Coote
Scripture and the Writer of Mark	363
Holly Hearon
Mapping Written and Spoken Word in the Gospel of Mark	379
Trevor W. Thompson
Writing in Character: Claudius Lysias to Felix as a Double-Pseudepigraphon (Acts 23:26–30)	393
List of Authors	409
Index of Sources	413
Index of Names	426
Subject Index	429