

Contents

JUTTA ERNST AND BRIGITTE GLASER – Introduction	7
GEORGE ELLIOTT CLARKE – Canada: The Invisible Empire?	19
H.D. FORBES – Authenticity/Recognition: Charles Taylor in Theory and Practice	37
PATRICK IMBERT – The Valorization of Geographic, Cultural, and Economic Displacements in the Literary World of Canada	49
TILL KINZEL – Transcending Multiculturalism? Neil Bissoondath and the Question of Canadian Identity	61
DAGMAR DREYER – Canada in Darkness : “Happy Multicultural Land”?	75
ELISABETH DAMBÖCK – “‘Even things that are true can be proved.’ Even they?”: Recent South Asian Canadian Literature and the Need for Human Similarities above Cultural Differences	91
MARIA MOSS – (Reluctant) Postcolonial Storytellers: Dionne Brand, Thomas King, and Rohinton Mistry	107
RENATE EIGENBROD – “Harvesting a Common Future”: Richard Wagamese’s Indigenized Stories of Intercultural Relations	119
REINGARD M. NISCHIK – “Heights and Depths I Never Guessed At”: Cultural Locations of Ethnicity in Vancouver Short Fiction by First Nations and Chinese Canadian Writers	135
SABINE KIM – Transing the Nation: Fred Wah’s Re-Reading of Ethnicity	151
ELEANOR TY – Revising the Romance of the Land: Place in Settler Narratives by Contemporary Asian Canadian Writers	169
FRAUKE REITEMEIER – Fickle Places: Canada in Contemporary Scottish Novels	185

KIRSTEN SANDROCK – Carnivalizing Cape Breton: Multiculturalism in Ann-Marie MacDonald’s Fall On Your Knees	203
ANCA-RALUCA RADU – Beyond Multiculturalism: Divisadero as a Transnational Novel	217
MARKUS REISENLEITNER – Gibson Country: Global City-Spaces in the North-American Imaginary of Pattern Recognition and Spook Country	231
SUSAN INGRAM – The Reverse Diversity of FT Fashion Television: Canadian Culture’s Global Positioning System	243
Contributors	253
Index	257