

Contents

	page
List of figures	vii
Preface to French edition by Paul Delouvrier	ix
Preface to English edition by Colin Buchanan	xi
Introduction	1
1 Town planning in the London area and the new towns	3
Introduction	3
I The formation of a policy 1937-1956	3
II The implementation of a policy 1946-1961	6
III The new towns	11
IV Change of policy 1961-1965	40
V Current studies in town planning 1965-1968	49
Conclusion	59
2 Town planning and new towns in the Scandinavian capitals	60
Introduction	60
I Planning policies in Copenhagen, Stockholm and Helsinki	60
II The main characteristics of town planning in the Scandinavian capitals	67
III The new towns	78
Conclusion	107
3 New towns and land use in the Netherlands	108
Introduction	108
I The main principles of land use	108
II Planning policy in Amsterdam: the new sectors	114
III Town planning in Rotterdam: the new sectors	124
IV A new town in the polders: Lelystad	130
Conclusion	140

4 New towns policy in France	141
I First post-war achievements in town planning: the grands ensembles	141
II A landmark in French town planning: the master plan for the Paris region	146
III Studies for new towns in the Paris region	155
IV A new set of studies: master plans for the metropolitan areas	166
5 Town planning and new towns in the USA	176
I Planning policy in the large cities of the USA	176
II Administration	178
III Town planning	181
IV The financing of the new towns	188
6 Land development and new towns in Poland	193
I Land development policy in Poland	193
II An example of planning: Upper Silesia	195
III New towns in Poland	197
Conclusion: present trends	214
7 Land development and new towns in Hungary	216
I A policy of land development and regional planning	216
II Regional plans	220
III New towns	222
Conclusion	240
8 An attempted synthesis	242
I The siting of new towns	242
II The size of the new towns	246
III Conception of zones and distribution of housing	248
IV The role of urban centres	251
V The provision of employment	251
VI The administrative and financial framework	253
VII Different types of new town	255
Conclusion	256
Bibliography	259
Index	271