Contents

Preface to the first edition vii
Preface to the second edition ix
Introduction to the second edition xi

1. Organizations and Inconsistent Norms 1

A Traditional View 2
Institutional Environments 4
Inconsistent Environments 8

2. The Political Organization Principle 13

The Ideal Type of Action Organization 14
The Ideal Type of Political Organization 19
Organizations in the Real World—Politics and Action 32
Politics in Organizational Processes 38

3. Politics in Practice 40

Attempts at Action Produce Politics 43
Politics Again 55
Inconsistencies in Ideologies and Roles 59
The Dominance of Politics 68

4. Decisions as Transition Between Politics and Action 71

The Case of Greaton 73
Decision-makers as Defensive Scrutineers 76
Opinion-making 84
Implementation 91
Decision-makers as Bearers of Responsibility 94

5. Responsibility as an Impediment to Influence—The Case of Budgeting 104

Budgeting 104
Budgeting under Stagnation 108
Roles and Actors in the Budget Process 110
The Allocation of Responsibility 116
Control—Supply and Demand 122
Budgeting as an Instrument for Financing 125

6. The Responsible Organization 130

Society as Hierarchy 131
Implementation or Legitimation 133
An Illustration 136
Stanby—Implementation or Legitimation? 138
The Role of Politics 146

7. Projects and Organizations 149

Two Projects 152
Strategies for Meeting External Demands—Delegation, Rationality and Ideology 157

8. Ideas, Decisions and Actions in Organizations ... 167

Ideas and Actions 168
Alternative Interpretations of Organizational Decision-making 175
Decision-making and the Allocation of Responsibility 179
Decisions as Legitimation 188
Four Roles of Decisions 189

9. The Dynamics of Hypocrisy 194

The Paradoxes of Presentation and Result 194
Public Organizations and the Publicness of Organizations 205
Implications for Organizational Stakeholders 217

References 236

Index 241