

Contents

Preface	vii
Introduction: Feminism and Gender Discourse in Mainland China, Taiwan and Hong Kong Kwok-kan Tam	ix
1 Women's Self-Identity and Gender Relations in Twentieth- Century Chinese Fiction Terry Siu-han Yip	I
2 Gender Construction, Stereotyping and Cross-Gender Writing Kwok-kan Tam	19
3 Feminist Literary Criticism in China since the Mid-1990s Lin Shuming and He Songyu	35
4 Food, Body and Female Subjectivity: Reading between Western and Chinese Perspectives Jessica Tsui Yan Li	53
5 Women as Human vs. Women as Women: Female Consciousness in Modern Chinese Women's Literature Qiao Yigang	77
6 Liberation of Femininity? Women's Poetry in Post-Mao China Lisa Lai-ming Wong	91
7 Gender Construction in the Novels of Zhang Kangkang and Liang Xiaosheng Suying Yang	109
8 Feminist Critique: The Patriarchal Discourse of Chinese Male Writers Sheng Ying	125
9 Three Chinese Women Writers and the City in the 1990s Jin Yanyu	147

10	New Modes of Women's Writing in the Age of Materialism Guo Shumei	159
11	Writing Women's Literary History: Gender Discourse and Women's Literature in Taiwan Mei-hwa Sung	171
12	The Subaltern Woman's Voice and the (Film-)making of Modern Taiwan Kuei-fen Chiu	193
13	Desire, Fear and Gender in Dong Qizhang's Novel Dual Body Kwok-kan Tam	217
14	Men Aren't Men: Feminization of the Masculine Subject in the Works of Some Hong Kong Male Writers Kwai-Cheung Lo	225
	Contributors	245
	Index	249