Contents

Acknowledgements ix

Introduction 1
Situated identities/diasporic transcriptions 1
Cartographies of intersectionality 10

1 Constructions of 'the Asian' in post-war Britain: culture, politics and identity in the pre-Thatcher years 17
The concepts of culture and identity 17
Coming to 'Vilayat' (1950s to early 1960s) 21
A home away from home (1960s to early 1970s) 25
Here to stay (mid-1970s to early 1980s) 37

2 Unemployment, gender and racism: Asian youth on the dole 49
Asian business activity and the young unemployed 50
Asian youth unemployment 50
Unemployment, racism and discrimination 52
Swimming against the tide: the problem of long-term unemployment 53
The loss of an income 54
Education and training for what? 61
Notes 66

3 Gendered spaces: women of South Asian descent in 1980s Britain 67
Asian women and paid work 69
Patriarchal racism, culture and 'family' 72
Schooling and Asian girls 79
Asian women organising 81

4 Questions of 'difference' and global feminisms 84
Notes 94

5 Difference, diversity, differentiation 95
What's in a name? What's in a colour? 96
Is sisterhood global? 102
Difference: what difference? 115

6 'Race' and 'culture' in the gendering of labour markets: young South Asian Muslim women and the labour market 128
Framing labour markets 130
Narrating self and the rest 138
Contingent positionality 149
Note 150

7 Re-framing Europe: gendered racisms, ethnicities and nationalisms in contemporary Western Europe 152
Racism, gender and class: a problem of definition? 154
Nationalism, racism, ethnicity and gender 158
Rethinking the 'new Europe' 165
Which way ethnicity? 174

8 Diaspora, border and transnational identities 178
Thinking through the concept of diaspora 181
Diaspora and minority 186
The homing of diaspora, the diasporising of home 190
The local and the global of diaspora 195
Whither diaspora? 196
Thinking through borders 198
Border, diaspora and the politics of location 204
Diaspora space and the creolisation of theory 208

9 Refiguring the 'multi': the politics of difference, commonalty and universalism 211
The problematics of 'primacy': multiple contestations 215
Margin or centre? The problem of Eurocentricity 220
Multiculturalisms? 227
Cultural difference and ethnicity 234
Difference, diaspora space and the refiguration of 'multi' 241

Bibliography 249
Index 264