Contents

List of illustrations viii
List of tables xiv
Preface and acknowledgements xv

1 Introduction: histories and geographies of science 1
2 Geographies of civic science: the British Association at work 24
3 The science of geography in the British Association 66
4 The dominion of science and geographies of empire: the BAAS overseas, 1884–1929 103
5 Hierarchy, distribution, connection: geography as a science of the physical world 135
6 Measurement, exploration and ethnology: geography and the human sciences 165
7 Science, education and the ‘crisis’ in geography, 1910–c. 1939 198
8 Conclusion: the British Association, geographies of science and the science of geography 232

Bibliography 248
Index 272