

CONTENTS

Preface	7
Ch. 1 Introduction: Foreign Minorities in Continental European Cities	9
John O'Loughlin, University of Illinois at Urbana
Ch. 2 Immigration and Segregation in Western Europe since 1945	30
Ceri Peach, University of Oxford
Ch. 3 Chicago an der Ruhr or What? Explaining the Location of Immigrants in European Cities	52
John O'Loughlin, University of Illinois at Urbana

a) West Germany

Ch. 4 Regulating Migrants' Lives: The Dialectic of Migrant Labor and the Contradictions of Regulatory and Integration Policies in the Federal Republic of Germany	71
Helga Leitner, Universities of Vienna and Minnesota
Ch. 5 Development of the German and Foreign Population in the Larger Cities of the Federal Republic of Germany since 1970	90
Jürgen Bähr and Paul Gans, Universität Kiel
Ch. 6 Intraurban Migration of Foreigners in Kiel since 1972 – The Case of the Turkish Population	116
Paul Gans, Universität Kiel
Ch. 7 Migration of Guestworkers and Germans: Microlevel Analysis of Neighbourhood Changes in Düsseldorf 1981–1983	139
Günther Glebe and Brigitte Waldorf, Universität Düsseldorf

b) France

Ch. 8 Immigration, Cities and the Geography of the National Front in France	163
Philip Ogden, Queen Mary College, London
Ch. 9 The Migrant Experience in Paris	184
Paul White, University of Sheffield

c) Smaller European Destinations

Ch. 10 Dynamics of Immigrant Settlement: Surinamese, Turks and Moroccans in Amsterdam 1973–1983	199
Hans van Amersfoort and Leo de Klerk, University of Amsterdam
Ch. 11 The Residential Location of Immigrant Workers in Belgian Cities: an Ethnic or a Socio-Economic Phenomenon?	223
Christian Kesteloot, Katholieke University of Leuven
Ch. 12 Guestworkers – Life in Two Societies	240
Elisabeth Lichtenberger and Heinz Faßmann, University of Vienna
Ch. 13 Foreign Workers in Switzerland and in the Canton of Zürich	258
Ayse Evrensel, University of Zürich
Bibliography	277
List of Contributors	295