

Contents

List of illustrations	page viii
Preface	ix
Chronology	xii
List of abbreviations	xv
1 Dickens the entertainer: ‘People must be amuthed’	1
2 Dickens and language: ‘What I meanersay’	20
3 Dickens and the city: ‘Animate London ... inanimate London’	43
4 Dickens, gender, and domesticity: ‘Be it ever ... so ghastly ... there’s no place like it’	64
5 Adapting Dickens: ‘He do the police in different voices’	84
Afterword: Dickens’s world	99
Notes	101
Further reading	107
Index	112

Illustrations

3.1 Wrapper for Little Dorrit , no. 7, June 1856	page 49
3.2 'Dakin's Tea and Coffee Company', Bleak House , no. 6, August 1852	50
5.1 'Tom All Alone's', Bleak House , no. 14, April 1853	87
5.2 Still from 1917 Fox production of A Tale of Two Cities (1917)	93
5.3 Still from David Lean's Oliver Twist (1948)	96