
Contents

General Editor's Introduction	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction
Julie Brown	xv
Literary Excellence and Social Reform: Lydia Maria Child's Ultraisms for the 1840s
Bruce Mills	3
Fiction as Political Discourse: Rose Terry Cooke's Antisuffrage Short Stories
Sherry Lee Linkon	17
Elizabeth Stoddard: An Examination of Her Work as Pivot Between Exploratory Fiction and the Modern Short Story
Timothy Morris	33
Who Was That Masked Woman? Gender and Form in Louisa May Alcott's Confidence Stories
Gail K. Smith	45
Ripe Fruit: Fantastic Elements in the Short Fiction of Ellen Glasgow, Edith Wharton, and Eudora Welty
Stephanie Branson	61
— Lady Terrorists: Nineteenth-Century American Women Writers and the Ghost Story
Barbara Patrick	73
— Representations of Female Authorship in Turn-of-the- Century American Magazine Fiction
Ellen Gruber Garvey	85

Lesbian Magazine Fiction in the Early Twentieth Century Lillian Faderman	99
Martha Wolfenstein's Idyls of the Gass and the Dilemma of Ethnic Self-Representation Barbara Shollar	121
Fannie Hurst's Short Stories of Working Women—"Oats for the Woman," "Sob Sister," and Contemporary Reader Responses: A Meditation Susan Koppelman	137
Lost Borders and Blurred Boundaries: Mary Austin as Storyteller Linda K. Karell	153
Ritual and Renewal: Keres Traditions in the Short Fiction of Leslie Silko A. LaVonne Brown Ruoff	167
"A Revolutionary Tale": In Search of African American Women's Short Story Writing Bill Mullen	191
Society and Self in Alice Walker's In Love and Trouble Dolan Hubbard	209
Displaced Abjection and States of Grace: Denise Chávez's The Last of the Menu Girls Douglas Anderson	235
Dorothy Parker's Perpetual Motion Ken Johnson	251
The "Feminine" Short Story in America: Historicizing Epiphanies Mary Burgan	267
Joyce Carol Oates: Reimagining the Masters, Or, A Woman's Place Is in Her Own Fiction Margaret Rozga	281
Gender and Genre: The Case of the Novel-in-Stories Margot Kelley	295
The Great Ventriloquist Act: Gender and Voice in the Fiction Workshop Julie Brown	311

Contents	ix
Bibliography of Primary Sources Susan Koppelman	323
Bibliography of Secondary Sources Amy Shoenberger	341
Contributors	353
Index	359