

Table of contents

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| List of contributors   | vii |
| Specialized languages: Corpora, meta-analyses and applicationsVijay Bathia, Purificación Sánchez Hernández and Pascual Pérez-Paredes  | 1   |
| SECTION ONE. Research based on corpora  |     |
| The historical shift of scientific academic prose in Englishtowards less explicit styles of expression: Writing without VerbsDouglas Biber and Bethany Gray               | 11  |
| Heteroglossic (Dis)engagement and the construal of the idealreadership: Dialogic spaces in academic textsCarmen Pérez-Llantada Auría                                      | 25  |
| Structure, content and functions of calls for conference abstractsSara Gesuato  | 47  |
| Summarizing findings: An all-pervasive move in open accessbiomedical research articles involves rephrasing strategiesMercedes Jaime-Sisó                                  | 71  |
| The use of adverbial hedges in EAP students' oral performance:A cross-language analysisPascual Pérez-Paredes, Purificación Sánchez Hernándezand Pilar Aguado Jiménez | 95  |
| Integrating approaches to visual data commentary:An exploratory case studyCarmen Sancho Guida   | 115 |
| SECTION TWO. Research based on meta-analysis and applications in LSP  |     |
| Some dichotomies in genre analysis for Languages for specific purposesJohn Flowerdew  | 139 |

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| English for legal purposes and domain-specific cultural awareness:The 'continental paradox', definition, causes and evolutionShaeda Isani                        | 155 |
| The talking cure: From narrative to academic argumentGillian Lazar   | 175 |
| UrgentiAS, a lexical database for medical students in clinical placements:Architecture, use and evaluationKris Buyse, Eva Saver, An Laffut and Herlinda Vekemans | 191 |
| Using natural language patterns for the development of ontologiesElena Montiel-Ponsoda and Guadalupe Aguado de Cea   | 211 |
| Notes on contributors   | 231 |
| Index   | 237 |