

TABLE OF CONTENTS

List of Graphs, Tables, and Illustrations	VII
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	XI
MAP OF FLANDERS	XII
INTRODUCTION
THE CENTRAL STATE AND URBAN REVOLTS IN MEDIEVAL FLANDERS	1
CHAPTER 1
THE STATE	11
1.1 The Privileges of 1477	11
1.2 Repairing the Damage	18
1.2.1 The Marriage of Mary and Maximilian	18
1.2.2 The War against France	21
1.2.3 State Finances	26
1.2.3.1 The Empty Treasury	26
1.2.3.2 The Institutional Structure	33
1.2.3.3 The Search for Money	39
(a) Taxation	39
(b) Domain and Offices	44
(c) Gifts and Loans	52
(d) Conclusion: Maximilian's Financial Policy	59
1.2.4 Habsburg Politics	62
1.2.4.1 The Expenses of the Receiver-General	62
1.2.4.2 The Violation of the Privileges of 1477	67
1.2.5 Maximilian's State Officials	78
1.3 Resistance against Maximilian	85
1.3.1 The Imprisonment of Willem Moreel	85
1.3.2 Criticizing the Regime	93
1.4 Conclusion	100
CHAPTER 2
THE NOBILITY	103
2.1 The Crisis of 1477	103
2.1.1 Reaction after the Death of Charles the Bold	103

2.1.2	Adolf of Cleves and Louis of Bruges	106
2.2	The Thorny Position of the Nobility at the Court of Mary and Maximilian	113
2.2.1	The Victory of Anton van der Vichte	113
2.2.2	Noble Dissatisfaction	118
2.2.2.1	Austrians and Wars	118
2.2.2.2	Archducal Favouritism	121
2.2.2.3	The Court Ordinance of 1481 and the 'Parvenus' at Court	126
2.2.3	The Chapter Meeting of the Golden Fleece of 1481	129
2.2.4	Forming a League	131
2.3	Conclusion	135

CHAPTER 3

THE CITIES

		137
3.1	Bruges	137
3.1.1	The Faction of Willem Moreel	137
3.1.2	Politics and Finances during the Reign of Charles the Bold	146
3.1.3	The Bruges Revolt of 1477	153
3.1.3.1	Bruges Support for the Privileges of 1477	153
3.1.3.2	The Craft Guilds Return to Power	157
3.1.3.3	The Bruges Privilege of 30 March 1477	162
3.1.3.4	The April Revolt	168
3.1.3.5	The City Boards of April 1477 and Second Privilege of Bruges	173
3.1.3.6	The Politics of Radical Craftsmen in May 1477	180
3.1.4	Politics in Bruges	185
3.1.4.1	The New Regime	185
3.1.4.2	Financial and Fiscal Policy of Bruges	187
	(a) Expenses for the Court and the War	187
	(b) Spending for Public Debt and City Administration	193
3.1.4.3	Fiscal Policy in Bruges	195
	(a) Voluntary Tax Systems	195
	(b) Consumer Taxes	198
	(c) Building a Belfry 'For the Common Good'	203
3.1.5	The Faltering Economy of Bruges	206
3.1.5.1	A General Economic Decline and the Bruges Response	206
3.1.5.2	The Bruges Tolls	210
3.1.6	The Food Crisis of 1481–82	216
3.1.7	Political Tensions in Bruges Before the Death of Mary of Burgundy	221
3.1.8	Conclusion: 'For the Common Good'?	226

3.2	Ghent	228
3.2.1	The Revolt of 1477 and its Previous History	228
3.2.2	Eliminating Political Adversaries	232
3.2.3	The Social Background of the New Regime	236
3.2.4	Protest against the Regime	242
3.2.5	Conclusion: Comparing Ghent and Bruges	247
3.3	Ypres	248
3.3.1	A Sleepy Oligarchic City	248
3.3.2	The Revolt of 1477	251
3.3.3	The Repression of the Revolt of 1477	256
3.3.4	Conclusion: Comparison with Ghent and Bruges	261
CONCLUSION		263
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS		271
BIBLIOGRAPHY		273
INDEX		311