

Contents

List of Tables and Figures ix

Introduction to the National Interest Perspective 1

Chapter One

Defining the National Interest 5

State, Nation, and Government 6

National Interest 9

Problems with the Statist Approach 10

National Interests as a Normative Concept 11

Specifying the National Interest Perspective 12

The Question of Priorities 16

Defining the Canadian National Interest 17

Conclusion 18

Chapter Two

Sovereignty and Secure Borders 21

Establishing Secure Boundaries 22

Territorial Waters 28

Case Study: Fish Wars on the Grand Banks 33

The Future of Sovereignty 34

Chapter Three

Defining the Enemy and National Defence 37

The American Threat 38

Confederation and the British Commitment 39

Militarism and Imperialism in Canada 41

Germany as the Enemy 42

Analysis of Threats to Canada pre-1945 44

Chapter Four

Defining the New Enemy: From the Cold War to Jihad 49

Canadian Perceptions of the Soviet Threat 53

Defending against Direct Attack 57

North American Air Defence Command (NORAD)	59
NORAD and Missile Defence	62
Defending Europe: Canada and NATO	65
Case Study: Canada in Afghanistan	69
Terrorism and Homeland Security	71
Conclusion	77

Chapter 5

International Security and Alternatives to Traditional Defence: Neutrality, Disarmament, Collective Security, and Peacekeeping 83

Neutrality	83
Disarmament	86
Collective Security	88
Peacekeeping: “Economy-Sized” Global Security	101
Case Study: The Bosnian War	107
Peacekeeping Reform and International Institution-building	110
Conclusion	112

Chapter 6

Achieving Political Autonomy 115

Achieving Political Autonomy: Canada and the United Kingdom	118
The Struggle for Responsible Government	118
Tariff Autonomy	119
The Dominion of Canada	120
The High Commissioner for Canada	121
Chamberlain Imperialism	122
World War I and the Crisis in Consultation	123
The United States as Counterweight	124
Final Stages to Complete Independence	127
Conclusion	127

Chapter 7

Preserving Political Autonomy 131

Mackenzie King in the Aftermath of World War II	132
Growing Elite Tensions under St. Laurent	133
Diefenbaker: “The Lament” Version	136
Diefenbaker Reassessed	137
The Clash with Kennedy	139
Case Study: The Nuclear Weapons Controversy	141
Political Conflicts under Pearson	145
Enhanced Autonomy under Trudeau	147
Conclusion	150

Chapter 8

Defending Economic and Cultural Autonomy 153

- Economic Dependence: Trade 153
- Economic Dependence: Foreign Investment 155
- Investment Regulations under St. Laurent and Diefenbaker 158
- Pearson and the First Attempts to Repatriate the Canadian Economy 159
- Trudeau and the Nationalist Peak 160
- Repatriating the Oil Industry 163
- The Mulroney Revolution 166
- Protecting Canadian Cultural Autonomy 168
- The Challenge of Technological Advances 171
- Conclusions: Business and Culture 173

Chapter 9

Preserving National Unity 177

- History of the Two Solitudes 177
- The Role of External Parties 181
- Domestic and Constitutional Factors 181
- Separation PQ-style 184
- Canadian Foreign Policy without Quebec 184
- The External Dimension Returns 189
- Conclusion 190

Chapter 10

Ensuring Economic Growth and Welfare 193

- Economic Policy Tools 193
- A Brief History of Canadian Trade Policy 197
- The United States and Canadian Trade after World War II 203
- The Free Trade Agreement with the United States 206
- The Problem of Trade Remedy Disputes 210
- Case Study: Softwood Lumber 212
- Meanwhile ... The Global Economy 215
- Assessing NAFTA and Canadian Economic Growth in the Twenty-first Century 217
- Conclusion 220

Chapter 11

The Projection of Canadian Identity as a National Interest 223

- Canadian Aid Policy: The Long Road to Sustainable Development and Beyond 225
- General Aspects of Official Development Aid 228
- A Brief History of Canadian ODA: The Early Years 230
- ODA Professionalization under Trudeau 231
- ODA in the Conservative: Years 1984 to 1993 232

The Liberals Return: 1993 to 2005	233
Evaluating ODA Policies	233
Summary of Canadian Identity	236

Chapter 12

Canadian National Interests: From the Realm of Ideas to the Realm of Practices 241

The Process of Canadian Foreign Policy	241
A Finely Balanced Mobile	244
Economic Prosperity	247
Critique of the National Interest Perspective	248

Appendix: Canadian and US Leaders since 1861 251

Glossary 253

Bibliography 259

Index 265