

Contents

Torture: Psychological Approaches to a Major Humanitarian Issue Roland Weierstall, Thomas Elbert, and Andreas Maercker	129
The Trauma of Torture and the Rehabilitation of Torture Survivors Lilla Hárdi and Adrienn Kroó	133
Screening for Torture: A Narrative Checklist Comparing Legal Definitions in a Torture Treatment Clinic Andrew Rasmussen, Mia Crager, Eva Keatley, Allen S. Keller, and Barry Rosenfeld	143
Are the American Psychological Association's Detainee Interrogation Policies Ethical and Effective? Key Claims, Documents, and Results Kenneth S. Pope	150
On the Imposition of Torture, an Extreme Stressor State, to Extract Information From Memory: A Baleful Consequence of Folk Cognitive Neurobiology Shane O'Mara	159
The Tortured Brain: Imaging Neural Representations of Traumatic Stress Experiences Using RSVP With Affective Pictorial Stimuli Thomas Elbert, Maggie Schauer, Martina Ruf, Roland Weierstall, Frank Neuner, Brigitte Rockstroh, and Markus Junghöfer	167
Dehumanized Perception: A Psychological Means to Facilitate Atrocities, Torture, and Genocide? Lasana T. Harris and Susan T. Fiske	175
Torture and Atrocity Sequelae in Methodologically Sophisticated Studies Andreas Maercker and Simon Forstmeier	182
Torture as Negative Excessive Behavior of Revenge and Punishment Andreas Maercker and Tobias Glück	184
Mental Health Interventions for Survivors of Torture: Current Status and Future Directions Karni Ginzburg and Yuval Neria	187
US Torture and National Security: The Imperative of Accountability Vincent Iacopino	190
Torture 101 Martha K. Huggins	193