

Table of Contents

Chapter 1

Law, Literature, and the Predicament of Representation . . . . . 1

Chapter 2

Legitimate Fictions: Rhetoric and Evidence in the Law-and-Literature Movement . . . . . 33

Chapter 3

Wieland's Testimony: Charles Brockden Brown and the Rhetoric of Evidence . . . . . 76

Chapter 4

The Judge and the Code: James Fenimore Cooper and the Common Law of Literature . . . . . 120

Chapter 5

Evidence and Identification: The Case(s) of To Kill a Mockingbird. . . . 174

Chapter 6

Dissenting Opinions: William Gaddis, Alan Dershowitz, and the Spectacles of Media Justice . . . . . 230

Bibliography . . . . . 274