

Content

Series Editors' Foreword	5
Acknowledgments	6
Introduction	9
PART ONE: THEORY AND GENERALISATION	13
Overview	13
1 Is there a teacher in the system? (1973)	17
2 Two-way communication within a distance-teaching system (1975)	25
3 The roles of theory and generalisation in the practice of distance education (1986)	35
4 International research in open and distance learning (1995)	53
PART TWO: PURPOSE AND CONTEXT	63
Overview	63
5 Rural education in Botswana (1977)	67
6 The virtual wandering scholar: policy issues for international higher education (1997)	81
7 Technologies, education, development and costs: A third look at the educational crisis (2001)	95
8 Well-trodden routes and mountains still to climb (2004)	109
PART THREE: EVIDENCE AND METHODOLOGY	121
Overview	121
9 Techniques for teaching at a distance (1973)	127
10 Choosing technologies for education (1999)	135
11 Mass media and basic education (1983)	141
12 The cost effectiveness of distance education for primary teacher training (1996)	151
13 Quality and standards in teacher training by open and distance learning (2001)	169
14 Distance-learning scholarships in higher education (2008)	183
15 Capability, development, and open and distance learning (2010)	195
Index	203