

Contents

List of Illustrations	xiv
List of Maps	xvi
1. Introduction	1
2. Escape in the First Months	15
The Chaos of May–June 1940	15
Diplomats as Rescuers	19
Aristide de Sousa Mendes	19
Vladimír Vochoč	24
Arie Sevenster and the Offices Néerlandais	28
Private Enterprise	31
Varian Fry and the Emergency Rescue Committee	31
Quakers, YMCA and the Coordination Committee	42
3. Fleeing the Captor: Escape from France and the Low Countries	50
Pilots and Prisoners of War	50
Smugglers and New Forms of Contraband	54
Dutch–Paris	58
The Westerweel Group	64
Escapee Stories	68
4. Swedish Havens	71
Escape from Norway	71
The Icon of Rescue: Escape from Denmark	84
5. Rescue and Hiding in France	99
Jewish Resistance and Self-Help	102
The Era of Deportations	110
Rescue in Paris and the Occupied Zone	113
6. Survival in the Vichy Zone	123
The Nîmes Committee and its Organizations	123
The Quakers	139
Le Chambon-sur-Lignon and other Protestant Communities	142

Dieulefit	148
Protection in the Italian Zone	151
'Other' Jews	160
Conclusion: Survival in France	162
7. Jewish Self-Help in Belgium	166
The Jews of Belgium and their Christian Neighbours	166
Jewish Self-Help	171
Direct Action: The Twentieth Convoy	179
8. Non-Jewish Rescuers in Belgium	188
Helping Hands	188
The Catholic Church	192
Rescuers among the Demi-Monde	202
A Country Divided	205
9. The Catastrophe of Dutch Jewry	208
Jewish Community Leadership	208
Self-Help and Individual Rescuers	214
The First Networks	225
10. Too Little, Too Late, Organized Resistance and Rescue	234
Organized Help	234
Friesland and Groningen	240
Overijssel and Drenthe	243
Limburg	249
The 'Philips Jews'	253
Conclusions	257
11. Suffer the Little Children . . .	260
Children as a Special Case	260
Saving Jewish Children: France	262
Saving Jewish Children: Belgium	276
12. At the Eleventh Hour: Saving Jewish Children in the Netherlands	296
Rescue Networks: The Role of Student Societies and Illegal Newspapers	296
The Crèche at the Schouwburg	304
Widening Participation: The Networks in the Provinces	311
Finding Homes	318
The Darker Side of Rescue	324

13. Nazi Rescuers and Jewish Traitors	330
Nazis as Rescuers	330
Self-Help: Salvation Through Treason	345
14. Conclusions	356
Endnotes	369
Glossary	455
List of Works Cited	459
Index	497