Contents

List of Illustrations vii
Acknowledgments ix

Introduction. Landscapes of Humour: The History and Politics of the Comical in the Twentieth Century MARTINA KESSEL 3

1 When Are Jewish Jokes No Longer Funny? Ethnic Humour in Imperial and Republican Berlin PETER JELAVICH 22

2 Creole Cartoons MARK WINOKUR 52

3 Talking War, Debating Unity: Order, Conflict, and Exclusion in ‘German Humour’ in the First World War MARTINA KESSEL 82

4 Producing a Cheerful Public: Light Radio Entertainment during National Socialism MONIKA PATER 108

5 Humour in the Volksgemeinschaft: The Disappearance of Destructive Satire in National Socialist Germany PATRICK MERZIGER 131

6 Laughing to Keep from Dying: Jewish Self-Hatred and The Larry Sanders Show VINCENT BROOK 153

7 Ethnic Humour and Ethnic Politics in the Netherlands: The Rules and Attraction of Clandestine Humour GISELINDE KUIPERS 175

8 ‘The Tongues of Mocking Wenches’: Humour and Gender in Late Twentieth-Century British Fiction EILEEN GILLOOLY 202

Contributors 221