

Contents

	Contributors	ix
	Introduction John Sinclair	1
1	Lexical priming and literary creativity Michael Hoey	7
2	Grammatical creativity: a corpus perspective Michael Hoey	31
3	Parole -linguistics and the diachronic dimension of the discourse Wolfgang Teubert	57
4	Natural and human rights , work and property in the discourse of Catholic social doctrine Wolfgang Teubert	89
5	On texts, corpora and models of language Michael Stubbs	127
6	Quantitative data on multi-word sequences in English: the case of the word world Michael Stubbs	163
7	Lexical items in discourse: identifying local textual functions of sustainable development Michaela Mahlberg	191
8	Corpus stylistics: bridging the gap between linguistic and literary studies Michaela Mahlberg	219
	Index of Names	247
	Index of Subjects	251