

Table of Contents

Preface	V
Abbreviations	XIII
Chapter 1: Introduction	1
1.1 Modern Scholarship on the ‘Paul and Politics’ Debate: A Survey of Its Proponents and Critics	2
1.2 Modern Scholarship on the ‘Paul and Politics’ Debate in Romans and in the Thessalonian Epistles	8
1.3 Modern Scholarship on the Imperial Cult and Its Relevance for the Thessalonian and Roman House Churches	14
1.4 Methodological Issues	19
1.4.1 The Literacy of First-Century Believers and Their Reception of Imperial Propaganda	19
1.4.2 The Issue of ‘Hidden Transcripts’: Discerning Paul’s Political and Pastoral Intent	28
1.4.3 The Imperial Cult as a Cult among Other Cults: Avoiding Monolithic and Undifferentiated Approaches	34
1.4.3.1 New Testament Studies and the Imperial Context: Karl Galinsky’s Case for a Nuanced Approach	34
1.4.3.2 New Testament Studies and the Imperial Context: The Issue of Appropriate Methodology	35
1.4.3.3 New Testament Studies and the Imperial Context: The Issue of Ideology	37
1.4.3.4 New Testament Studies and the Imperial Context: The Difference between the Imperial Cult at Rome and in the Greek East	40
1.4.3.5 The Limitations of the Ancient Evidence Regarding the Imperial Cult	42
1.5 The Aim and Structure of the Book	44

Chapter 2: Paul and the Imperial Gospel at Thessalonica	47
2.1 Scholarly Debate on the Eschatology of 1 Thessalonians 4:13–5:11	47
2.2 Jewish and Roman Conceptions of Rule in 1 Thessalonians	51
2.2.1 Introduction	51
2.2.2 παρουσία and ἐπιφάνεια	56
2.2.3 ἀπάντησις	59
2.2.4 εἰρήνη καὶ ἀσφάλεια	61
2.2.5 σωτηρία and ἐλπίς	62
2.3 Paul's Critique of the Augustan Ideology of Rule and Apotheosis Traditions	63
2.4 Conclusion	68
 Chapter 3: 'The Ultimate Sinner': Paul and the Anti-Christ in Political Context	 71
3.1 Introduction to the Modern Scholarly Debate	71
3.2 Jewish Precedents for the 'Man of Lawlessness' in the Intertestamental Period	75
3.3 Caligula's Attempt to Defile the Jerusalem Temple (AD 40)	78
3.4 Does Paul Speak of Caligula in 2 Thessalonians 2:3–4, 8?	85
3.4.1 Paul and the language of epiphany (2 Thess 2:8)	86
3.4.2 Paul and the language of lawlessness (2 Thess 2:3, 7, 8)	90
3.4.3 Paul and the language of deity (2 Thess 2:4)	93
3.5 Conclusion	94
 Chapter 4: Imperial Conceptions of Rule and Paul's Reign of Grace	 97
4.1 Defining the Roman Sense of Time in Relation to Imperial Rule	97
4.1.1 Saeculum and the Centenary Celebrations at Rome	97
4.1.2 The Advent of the Golden Age of Saturn in the Reigns of Augustus and Nero	101
4.1.3 The amici and clientes of Augustus and the Erection of Monuments and Inscriptions to ΑΙΩΝ	105
4.1.4 Augustus' horologium	106
4.2 Paul, Jewish Eschatology and the Reign of Grace	108
4.3 Roman Conceptions of the Rule of the Caesars	118
4.3.1 Princeps a diis electus	118
4.3.2 The 'Age of Grace' from Augustus to Nero	121
4.3.3 The Ruler as 'Cosmic' Benefactor	123
4.3.4 Providentially Defining Events in the Reigns of the Rulers	128
4.3.5 The Ruler as triumphator: The Roman Ideology of Victory	133

4.3.6 The virtue of the Ruler	138
4.3.7 The Titles of the Ruler and the Language of 'Newness'	142
4.4 The Triumph of Christ as Eschatological Ruler in Romans	144
4.4.1 Paul, Messianic Prophecy and the Golden Age	146
4.4.2 Paul, Redemption and the 'Newness' of the Julio-Claudian Dynasty	153
4.4.3 Paul, the Redemption of Creation and the Ruler	156
4.4.4 'More Than Conquerors': The Triumph of God's Love over the Ruling Powers	159
4.4.5 Paul, the Crushing of Satan and the Empire of Rome	161
4.5 Conclusion	163

Chapter 5: Paul's 'Dishonoured Benefactor' in Augustan and Neronian Context

5.1 Political Factionalism and the Mid-Fifties House Churches of Rome ..	165
5.2 The Forum of Augustus and Imperial Eschatology at Rome	170
5.3 Anti-Augustan Propaganda and Imperial Ideology at Rome	177
5.4 Ovid and the Rhetoric of Imperial Exile	183
5.5 Paul's Dishonoured Benefactor and the Imperial Gospel in Romans 5:1–11	185
5.5.1 Preliminary Comments	185
5.5.2 Peace, Grace, the Hope of Divine Glory, and Love: The Rhetoric of Paul's Gospel in Its Imperial Context (Rom 5:1–5)	186
5.5.3 The Death of Christ and Imperial Rhetoric (Rom 5:6–9)	190
5.5.4 Divine Reconciliation and Imperial Rhetoric (Rom 5:10–11) ...	195
5.6 Conclusion	197

Chapter 6: Paul and the Roman Ideal of Glory in the Epistle to the Romans

6.1 A Scholarly Oversight in the Study of Romans	201
6.2 The Roman Nobles and the Quest for Ancestral Gloria	205
6.2.1 Defining Gloria	205
6.2.2 Sallust and Cicero on Gloria	209
6.2.2.1 A Survey of Sallust's Understanding of Gloria	209
6.2.2.2 A Survey of Cicero's Understanding of Gloria	212
6.2.3 The Scipionic Elogia and Gloria	219
6.2.4 Funeral Processions and the Commemoration of Ancestral Gloria	221
6.2.5 Roman Boasting Culture: the Duilius Inscription and Plautus ...	223

6.3 The Concentration of Gloria in the House of the Caesars	225
6.3.1 The Application of Gloria Terminology to the Caesars and the Decline of the Traditional Cursus Honorum	225
6.4 Paul and the Jewish Ideal of Glory	232
6.4.1 Paul's Theological Inheritance: The Jewish Context of Glory and Its Impact on Paul's Thought in Romans	232
6.4.1.1 Glory in the LXX	232
6.4.1.2 Glory in the Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, the Dead Sea Scrolls and the Rabbinic Literature	237
6.4.2 Case Studies of Glory in Jewish Thought	242
6.4.2.1 The Perspective of Philo and Josephus on Glory	243
6.4.2.2 Ben Sira on Ancestral Glory in Sirach 44:1–50:29.	247
6.4.2.3 Divine Glory and the Roman Conquest: The Perspective of the Psalms of Solomon	251
6.4.3 What Would Jewish Auditors Have Made of Paul's Ideal of Glory?	254
6.5 Paul and the Roman Ideal of Glory	262
6.5.1 What Would Roman Auditors Have Made of Paul's Ideal of Glory?	262
6.6 Conclusion	268
Chapter 7: Did Paul Found a New Concept of State?	271
7.1 A Survey of Recent Scholarship on Romans 13:1–7	271
7.2 Greek and Roman Political Theorists on Submission to the Ruler	277
7.2.1 Greek Political Literature on the Ideal Ruler	279
7.2.1.1 The Pythagorean Political Theorists	279
7.2.1.2 Dio Chrysostom on Kingship and Tyranny	287
7.2.1.3 Musonius Rufus on Kingship and Philosophy	289
7.2.1.4 Plutarch on Rulers and the Nature of Statecraft	290
7.2.2 Roman Political Literature on the Ideal Ruler: Seneca's De Clementia	292
7.2.3 Conclusion	299
7.3 Jewish Perspectives on Submission to Gentile Rulers	300
7.4 Setting Romans 13:1–7 in Its Imperial Context	308
Chapter 8: Conclusion	325
8.1 The Issue of Appropriate Methodology for Studies of Imperial Ideology and Its Relation to Paul's Epistles	325
8.2 Paul's Gospel and Imperial Thessalonica: Issues of Ideological Conflict in the Greek East	326

8.3 Paul's Gospel and Imperial Rome: Issues of Ideological Conflict in the Latin West	330
8.4 Further Research	336
Appendix: Neronian Numismatic Evidence	339
Bibliography	341
Index of Passages	373
Old Testament	373
Apocrypha	377
Pseudepigrapha	378
Rabbinic Literature	380
Qumran	381
New Testament	382
Index of Ancient Non-Literary Sources	395
Index of Ancient Literary Sources	400
Index of Modern Authors	416
Index of Subjects	424