Acknowledgments vii

Marcia C. Inhorn and Emily A. Wentzell
Introduction: Medical Anthropology at the Intersections 1

Part I. Histories

One | Emily Martin
Grafting Together Medical Anthropology, Feminism, and Technoscience 23

Two | Lynn M. Morgan
Getting at Anthropology through Medical History:
Notes on the Consumption of Chinese Embryos and Fetuses in the Western Imagination 41

Three | Lawrence Cohen
Making Peasants Protestant and Other Projects:
Medical Anthropology and Its Global Condition 65

Part II. Queries

Four | Didier Fassin
That Obscure Object of Global Health 95

Five | Arthur Kleinman
Medical Anthropology and Mental Health:
Five Questions for the Next Fifty Years 116

Six | Margaret Lock
From Genetics to Postgenomics and the Discovery of the New Social Body 129
PART III. ACTIVISMS

SEVEN | RAYNA RAPP AND FAYE GINSBURG
Anthropology and the Study of Disability Worlds 163

EIGHT | MERRILL SINGER
Medical Anthropology and Public Policy:
Using Research to Change the World from What
It Is to What We Believe It Should Be 183

NINE | RICHARD PARKER
Critical Intersections and Engagements:
Gender, Sexuality, Health, and Rights
in Medical Anthropology 206

Notes 239

References 251

Contributors 307

Index 313