CONTENTS

ABBREVIATIONS AND ACRONYMS ix
BIOGRAPHIES OF CONTRIBUTORS x
INTRODUCTION TO THE VOLUME xvi

SECTION 1 Engaging with public engagement 1

1.1 Moving forwards or in circles? Science communication and scientific governance in an age of innovation, by Alan Irwin 3

1.2 The new politics of public engagement with science, by Jack Stilgoe and James Wilsdon 18

1.3 (In)authentic sciences and (im)partial publics: (re)constructing the science outreach and public engagement agenda, by Richard Holliman and Eric Jensen 35

SECTION 2 Researching public engagement 53

2.1 Investigating science communication to inform science outreach and public engagement, by Eric Jensen and Richard Holliman 55

2.2 Learning to engage; engaging to learn: the purposes of informal science–public dialogue, by Sarah Davies 72

2.3 Engaging with interactive science exhibits: a study of children's activity and the value of experience for communicating science, by Robin Meisner and Jonathan Osborne 86

SECTION 3 Studying science in popular media 103

3.1 Science, communication and media, by Anders Hansen 105

3.2 Models of science communication, by Joan Leach, Simeon Yates and Eileen Scanlon 128

SECTION 4 Mediating science news 147

4.1 Making science newsworthy: exploring the conventions of science journalism, by Stuart Allan 149

4.2 Science reporting in the electronic embrace of the internet, by Brian Trench 166

SECTION 5 Communicating science in popular media 181

5.1 From flow to user flows: understanding 'good science' programming in the UK digital television landscape, by James Bennett 183

5.2 Image–music–text of popular science, by Felicity Mellor 205

SECTION 6 Examining audiences for popular science 221

6.1 Reinterpreting the audiences for media messages about science, by Susanna Hornig Priest 223

6.2 Investigating gendered representations of scientists, technologists, engineers and mathematicians on UK children's television, by Jenni Carr, Elizabeth Whitelegg, Richard Holliman, Eileen Scanlon and Barbara Hodgson 237

6.3 Interpreting contested science: media influence and scientific citizenship, by Richard Holliman and Eileen Scanlon 254

FINAL REFLECTIONS . . . 274

INDEX 279