

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	7
Introduction	9
Chapter 1: Portugal as a Test Case where Antisemitism Lost its Grip	17
Rehabilitation of the Jews, 17 • Revival of the Crypto-Jews, 26 • Economic and Social Integration of the Jews, 31 • Manifestations of Pro-Jewish Sympathies, 37 • Following the Failure of Antisemitism, 42
Chapter 2: Portugal's Policy on Jewish Refugees from 1938 to 1941	59
Initial Measures to Block the Entry of Jews, 59 • Tightening of the Border Blockade, 67 • Attitude of the Consuls, 73 • Angola—a "National Home" for Jews, 91 • Portuguese Society and the Jewish Refugees, 110
Chapter 3: Lisbon as a Hub of Jewish Activity During the Holocaust	127
The Portuguese Relief Committee for Jewish Refugees (COMASSIS), 128 • Activities of the JDC and HIAS-HICEM, 140 • The Refugee Relief Department of the Lisbon Jewish Community, 154 • Isaac Weissman—Representative of RELICO and the World Jewish Congress in Portugal, 163 • Zionist Activity in Lisbon, 181 • Shipment of Food Parcels to Jews under German Occupation, 197
Chapter 4: Protection and Repatriation of Jews of Portuguese Origin	225
What was Known about the Mass Murder of European Jewry, 225 • The Problem of Jewish Portuguese Nationals, 229 • Repatriation of Jewish Portuguese Nationals from France, 236 • Jews of Portuguese Extraction in the Netherlands, 244 • Repatriation of Jewish Portuguese Nationals from Greece, 253 • Portugal and the Rescue of Hungarian Jewry, 260 • SS Expropriation of the Manfred Weiss Enterprises, 267 • Rescue Efforts in Budapest, 271
Conclusion	285
Sources and Bibliography	297