| CHAPTER 4: THE COSTS OF PARTICIPATION: CULTURE SHOCK | 67 |
| Coping with Culture Shock | 73 |
| Participating and Parenting: Children and Field Research | 74 |
| Reverse Culture Shock (Reentry Shock) | 77 |
| Note | 78 |
| CHAPTER 5: DOING PARTICIPANT OBSERVATION: BECOMING AN OBSERVER | 79 |
| The Role of Theory and Conceptual Frameworks | 80 |
| Taking the Observer Role | 81 |
| Attending to Detail: Mapping the Scene | 81 |
| (Participatory) Community Mapping | 84 |
| Counting | 85 |
| Attending to Conversation | 87 |
| Field Notes as a Training Tool for Observation | 87 |
| Seeing Old Events with New Eyes | 88 |
| Practicing and Improving Observation and Memory | 88 |
| What to Observe | 89 |
| Just Experiencing | 92 |
| Limits to Observation | 92 |
| Ethnographer Bias | 94 |
| Notes | 96 |
| CHAPTER 6: GENDER AND SEX ISSUES IN PARTICIPANT OBSERVATION | 99 |
| The Gendered Ethnographer | 99 |
| Up Close and Personal: Sex in the Field | 102 |
| Note | 108 |
| CHAPTER 7: DESIGNING RESEARCH WITH PARTICIPANT OBSERVATION | 109 |
| Participant Observation and Research Design | 109 |
| Fundamentals of Design of Participant Observation | 111 |
| Objectivity | 111 |
| Reliability | 112 |
| Elements of Design | 123 |
| Choosing a Question | 123 |
| Appropriate Questions | 124 |
| Choosing a Site | 126 |
| Appropriate Methods and the Benefits of Triangulation | 127 |
| Enhancing Representativeness: Sampling in Participant Observation | 128 |
| Proposing Participant Observation | 133 |
| Research Objectives | 135 |
| Notes | 136 |

| CHAPTER 8: INFORMAL INTERVIEWING IN PARTICIPANT OBSERVATION | 137 |
| Types of Interviews | 138 |
| Interview Techniques | 142 |
| Active Listening | 142 |
| Sensitive Silence | 143 |
| The Uh-huh Prompt | 145 |
| Repetition Feedback | 147 |
| Summary Feedback | 148 |
| Asking Questions in Interviewing | 149 |
| Tell Me More | 149 |
| For Clarification | 150 |
| Naïve Questions | 150 |
| Avoiding Confrontation | 151 |
| Changing Topics | 152 |
| Talking About Sensitive Subjects | 153 |
| Concluding an Interview | 155 |
| Notes | 156 |
| CHAPTER 9: WRITING FIELD NOTES | 157 |
| History | 157 |
| Kinds of Field Notes | 160 |
| Jot Notes | 160 |
| Expanded Notes: Field Notes Proper | 165 |
| Methodological Notes | 168 |
| Diaries and Journals | 168 |
| Logs | 169 |
| Meta-notes/Analytic Notes | 170 |
| Headnotes | 171 |
| Field Notes in Virtual Research | 173 |
| How to Record | 174 |
| Research Integrity: Who Owns the Field Notes | 176 |
| Notes | 178 |
| CHAPTER 10: ANALYZING FIELD NOTES | 179 |
| Process of Data Analysis | 180 |
| Managing Qualitative Data | 180 |
| Data Reduction | 181 |
| Approaches to Indexing | 184 |
| Coding for Themes | 189 |
| Coding for Characteristics | 192 |
| Managing Coding and Indexing | 192 |
| Word Searches | 193 |
