

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
An approach to theory, method and the visual in ethnography	2
Disciplinary concerns and ethnographic research	5
Vision and images in social science: methodologies and theories	7
Common theoretical threads: the transformative potential of the visual	12
The book	14
PART 1 THINKING ABOUT VISUAL RESEARCH	15
1 The Visual in Ethnography: Photography, Video, Cultures and Individuals	17
Ethnography and ethnographic images	17
Reflexivity and subjectivity	19
Gendered identities, technologies and images	21
Unobservable ethnography and visual culture	23
Images, technologies, individuals	24
Consuming technology and practising photography	26
Images and image producers: breaking down the categories	27
Summary	29
2 Planning and Practising Visual Methods: Appropriate Uses and Ethical Issues	30
Why use 'visual methods'?	30
The appropriateness of 'visual methods'	30
Planning visual research	33
Choosing the technology for the project	35
Ethics and ethnographic research	36
Visual research methods and ethical ethnography	39
Summary	46

PART 2	PRODUCING KNOWLEDGE	47
3	Photography in Ethnographic Research	49
	The 'ethnographicness' of photography	50
	Ethnographer as photographer	52
	Photography as a recording device: the potential of the photographic survey	57
	Participatory and collaborative photography	58
	Getting started: taking the first picture	64
	Viewing ethnographers' photographs: interviewing with images	66
	Viewing informants' photographs: interviewing with images	71
	Displays and exhibitions: viewing photographs with informants	74
	Absent photographs	75
	Summary: image producers, visual cultures and visualizing conversations	75
4	Video in Ethnographic Research	77
	Defining ethnographic video	78
	Ethnographic video and local 'video cultures'	80
	Ethnographer as video maker: examples from the field	82
	Collaborative and participatory video	85
	The potential of video as a recording method	87
	Getting started	88
	Viewing footage with informants: interviewing with/talking around video	89
	Ethnographic uses of digital video	92
	Summary	92
5	Classifying and Interpreting Photographic and Video Materials	94
	Analysis: a stage or a practice	94
	Images and words: the end of hierarchies	96
	Analysing images: content and context	97
	Between the 'field' and 'home': local and ethnographic meanings	99
	Images we can't 'take home'	101
	Organizing images: the issue of the archive	103
	Sequential organization and the 'authentic narrative': whose order is it?	105
	Thematic organization and multiple categories: dealing with diverse photographic meanings	107
	Organizing video footage	110
	Electronic archives	113
	Summary	114
PART 3	VISUAL IMAGES AND TECHNOLOGIES IN ETHNOGRAPHIC REPRESENTATION	115
6	Ethnographic Photography and Printed Text	121
	Printed text as a medium for ethnographic representation	121

Deconstructionism turns to photography	122
Photography and claims to ethnographic authority	122
Images and written text: captions, narratives	124
Images words and readers	126
Experimenting with photographs and words	129
The photo-essay in ethnography	134
Ethics	135
Summary	137
7 Video in Ethnographic Representation	138
Video and representation	138
Defining 'ethnographic video'	138
X The relationship between video research and video representation	140
Video, other media and reflexive text	142
Ethnographic video audiences	144
Video representations of ethnography	147
Ethics	154
Summary	154
8 Electronic Texts	155
Electronic technologies and ethnographic representation	155
What is ethnographic electronic hypermedia text?	156
Ethnographic hypermedia, the written word and conventional forms	157
Ethnographic photography and hypermedia	158
Hypermedia representations and ethnographic video/film	162
Reflexive text: hypermedia and the relationship between research and representation	164
Hypermedia as experimental text: multilinearity, montage and multivocality	166
Ethnographic resources and open-ended texts	167
Between design and experience: hypermedia texts and their users	168
Audience/readers/users and the production of ethnographic meaning	170
Ethics	171
Practical concerns	172
Ethnography of user experience	174
Futures	175
After-word	176
References	177
Author index	189
Subject index	193