

Contents

Transnationalism or the Fading of Borders? Berndt Ostendorf	1
A Human Capital Future for an Information Era Thomas J. Courchene	23
Some Cautionary Notes on the New Economic Order Jürgen Kähler	39
Early American Visions of a Hemispheric Market in South America Ricardo D. Salvatore	45
Pan-Americanism Turned Upside Down Stefan Rinke	65
'Fortress North America'? New Borders for Old Reg Whitaker	73
The Global Media and Cosmopolitanism John Urry	91
Gunfight at the Cyberspace Corral: Public Intellectuals on the Cyberspace Frontier Paul Ashdown	107
The Unification of the World Under the Signs of Mickey Mouse and Bruce Willis: The Supply and Demand Sides of American Popular Culture Todd Gitlin	117
Whose Woman? Transnationalism in Gendered Perspective Susan H. Armitage	131

Elián González, Cuban-American Detente, and the Rhetoric of Family Values John Carlos Rowe	139
The Multilingual Anthology of American Literature: Crossing Linguistic Boundaries in American Culture Werner Sollors	149
The Color of the Gods: Notes on a Question Better Left Unasked Stephan Palmié	163
Ethnic Transitions: Nicaraguans in the United States Patricia Fernández-Kelly	177
The Outsider as Insider: a Commentary on “Transnational America” Bharati Mukherjee	205
Transnational America Conference Commentaries	216
Response to Patricia Fernández Kelly and Stephan Palmié Heike Paul	218
Response to Werner Sollors and John Carlos Rowe Rüdiger Kunow	224
Response to Todd Gitlin and Susan Armitage Sieglinde Lemke	231
Introduction to Paul Ashdown and John Urry Hans J. Kleinsteuber	238
Response to Paul Ashdown and John Urry Stephan Fuchs	242
References	249